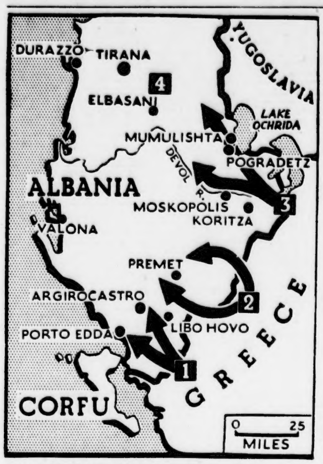
ITALO MILITARY SHAKEUP CONTINUES



Italians Abandon Porto Edda

Continuing to give ground before the relentless drive of the Greek forces, Italian troops have withdrawn from Porto Edda and Argyrocastro (1), apparently abandoning hope of successfully defending these strategic towns. The Greeks were also reported to have cut to pieces one of Italy's picked battalions near Premet (2). In the north the Greeks are advancing through the Devol river valley (3), and past Mumulishta toward Elbasann (4), and Tirana.

Argirocastro Now Being Abandoned By Forces Of Italian Army Says Report

Parts Of Inland Albanian Base Left In Flames By Fleeing Fascist Troops, Says Despatches From War Front

ATHENS, Dec. 7.—(AP)—Italian forces were reported today to have abandoned Argirocastro, leaving parts of the inland Albanian base in flames. Dispatches from the front said Greek troops advancing on Argirocastro from several directions had established contact preparatory to occupation.

The road between Porto Edda and Delvino and the road south of Argirocastro already are occupied by Greek forces, it was said. The high command announced yesterday that Porto Edda, 15 miles southwest of Argirocastro and the main sea gateway to supply the Italians, had fallen.

Dispatches from the front said at least 3,000 prisoners were captured yesterday, along with more than 100 howitzers. The howitzer was one of the Italians' "principal weapons" in the attempt to invade Greece which the Greeks turned into a counter-invasion of Italian-held Albania.

NEW BATTLE CRY

Many prisoners, it was said, have been transported to Greek camps in the past four days by plane to

Three Killed When Auto Is Struck By Passenger Train

THAMESFORD, Ont., Dec. 7—(CP)—Three persons were killed today when a Canadian Pacific Railway passenger train struck a motor-car at a level crossing three miles from this town. Thamesford is situated halfway between London and Woodstock.

The victims were tentatively identified as Mr and Mrs. Harvey Tackaberry and their daughter, Esther.

The bodies were badly mangled and positive identification was not possible.

BRISTOL BEARS BRUNT OF NAZI NIGHT ASSAULT

LONDON, Dec. 7.—(CP)—Bristol, one of Britain's chief west coast ports and the gateway through which many of her seaborne war supplies have been flowing into the industrial midlands, bore the brunt of German bombing attacks during the night, the government reported today.

Numerous fires were set by the raiders and a hospital and many other buildings were damaged, a communique said. A number of persons were reported killed and injured.

Eight persons were killed by a bomb which struck a private shelter in a south coast town in the night. Circling over the town in the bright moonlight, the raiders showered incendiary and high explosive bombs over a wide area.

R.A.F. fighters shot down two axis bombers in engagements today, it was learned officially.

Fight Looms In South Atlantic

Excitement Running High In Montevideo Over Ocean Raider

Waterfront Speculates That German Sea Raider May Be Sister Ship To Graf Spee —Carnarvon Castle Docks Today

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, Dec. 7.—(AP)—The British armed merchant cruiser Carnarvon Castle, damaged in battle two days ago with a German surface raider which fled, was reported sighted this afternoon, making toward the entrance of Montevideo harbor at moderate speed and apparently without difficulty.

Welders had been called to the docks by the British consulate to make hurried repairs to the 20,122-ton vessel.

By RICARDO ALVAREZ

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, Dec. 7.—(BUP)—Officers of the Uruguayan cruiser Uruguay said today that the British battleship Warspite, 30,600 tons, was speeding northward in an attempt to intercept a German sea raider which was engaged two days ago by the British auxiliary cruiser Carnarvon Castle.

The cruiser Uruguay returned from Atlantic coast patrol duty and her officers said they had sighted the Warspite at sea at full speed and on a northward course.

They expressed belief that the Warspite may have been summoned from her base at the Falkland Islands by an urgent call based on the operations of the raider.

The Warspite is fitted as a flagship and although constructed in 1913 she has a speed of 24 knots, believed faster than the German raider, which some British quarters have estimated as having a speed of about 19 knots.

(Jane's Fighting Ships says of the Warspite that it "steams splendidly and can maintain a high average speed for long periods.")

The Warspite was modernized extensively in 1937 and her 15-inch guns were increased to a 30-degree elevation during the reconstruction. She has a radius of action of about 4,400 miles and has a complement of about 1,200 officers and men. She carries four aircraft and a catapult and in addition to eight 15-inch guns she mounts eight six-inch guns and eight four-inch anti-aircraft guns.

By RICARDO ALVAREZ

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, Dec. 7.—(BUP)—The Carnarvon Castle, 20,000-ton British armed merchant cruiser, was expected to dock at Montevideo about noon today to unload its wounded and repair the damage suffered in a battle with a German commerce raider.

Excitement ran high along the waterfront. There were reports that the German ship involved was a pocket battleship; that British warships were after it and that a major naval battle in the vicinity was imminent.

The British legation at Montevideo refused comment but a British steamer which mounts two guns on its stern, returned to port a few hours after sailing yesterday and some persons interpreted this to mean that the British were preparing for a battle in this vicinity and wanted their ships out of the way.

The British admiralty had identified the German ship as a fast raider "disguised as a merchant ship." However, the report was

Today's War Moves

REPORTS from London and Belgrade of German efforts to end the Italian-Greek war through Turkish mediation indicate disturbed conditions within Italy. Presuming that the London and Belgrade reports have some basis in fact, Mussolini must have consented to the peace feelers, for which domestic uncertainties concerning the war provide the most reasonable explanation.

There has been evidence from the start of the Italian adventure in Greece that Hitler has been uneasy concerning the outcome and the possible needless spread of the conflict in southeastern Europe. That attitude is justifiable from both military and political standpoints.

Even if Italy were to defeat the Greeks overwhelmingly, the advantage to the axis would be meagre compared to the great gain to Britain in the event of a complete Italian defeat. The gamble, from

U.S. PLEDGES GREEKS HELP IN CONFLICT

President Roosevelt Assures King George Of Assistance

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—(AP)—In an exchange of messages with King George of Greece, President Roosevelt today pledged United States aid to Greece.

Answering a message from the Greek king thanking the United States for aid already received, President Roosevelt said in a message released through the state department: "As Your Majesty knows, it is the settled policy of the United States government to extend aid to those governments and peoples who defend themselves against aggression.

STEPS BEING TAKEN

"I assure Your Majesty that steps are being taken to extend such aid to Greece which is defending itself so valiantly."

BACON PACT IS BELIEVED FAIR BY PRIESTLEY

Exports Increased, Price Favorable, U.F.A. Official Says

Assurances have been received that the new bacon agreement with Great Britain will mean an average reduction to hog producers of not more than 50 cents per 100 pounds live weight, instead of $1.50 as expected earlier, and that exports to the United Kingdom call for at least $10,000,000 worth more bacon than was sold last year, it was stated Saturday by Norman Priestley, Calgary, vice-president of the United Farmers of Alberta.

Mr. Priestley was in Edmonton Saturday, registered at the Corona hotel, on his way to Westlock where he is to address a meeting of Pembina constituency U.F.A.

Mr. Priestley said that the new price being paid at Canadian seaboard by the British food ministry of $15.82 per 100 pounds for grade "A" Wiltshire sides, as compared with $18.01 paid under the former agreement, was believed to entail a drop of some $1.50 per 100 pounds live weight to farmers.

He had received assurances from Hon. J. G. Gardiner, federal agriculture minister and from the Canadian Bacon Board, that there was nothing to justify this assumption. This assumption had been based on price kept at a partially artificial level, above the prevailing domestic market, due to the price of the expiring agreement.

At the same time, it was pointed out, arrangements have now been made to give farmers the full price of their bacon, through the packers, whereas last year from 60 to 70 cents per 100 pounds had been retained by the government to create a stabilization fund.

First Contribution Made To Not Forgotten Fund To Help Boys In Vets' Ward

On Friday The Bulletin launched its annual appeal again for contributions to the traditional Not Forgotten Fund. On Saturday this fund received its first contribution for this season—a $2 donation from the Duke of Cornwall Chapter of the I.O.D.E. at Castor, Alta.

With such ready response to such a genuine appeal prospects for substantial aid to the fund this year are heart-warming.

The Not Forgotten Fund has as its sole object, the provision for a jolly good time at Christmas for the soldier patients in the Military Ward of the University hospital. Each Christmas since the end of the Great War of 1914-1918 The Bulletin has opened its columns to receive donations to The Not Forgotten Fund and each year readers have contributed generously.

Here is an opportunity for each and every individual, boy, girl, man and woman, to send in a donation,

Traffic Victim

IRENE LINGJERDE, 18, 8012 110 street, formerly of Camrose, who suffered fatal injuries when struck by a car as she walked across the street at 95 street and 105A avenue Friday evening. The victim was returning home from choir practice at a nearby church.

CAMROSE GIRL SUCCUMBS TO CAR INJURIES

Irene Lingjerde, 18, Dies After Being Struck By Auto

Second traffic fatality on Edmonton streets in a little more than 24 hours occurred Friday night when Irene Lingjerde, 18, of Camrose received injuries from which she later died when struck by a car at the intersection of 95 street and 108A avenue.

The accident occurred at 9:20 p.m. and Miss Lingjerde died at 11 p.m. in the Royal Alexandra hospital.

Ernest Hollinsworth, 9721 96 street, is being held by city police on a charge of manslaughter as the alleged driver of the car that struck the Lingjerde girl.

THURSDAY FATALITY

Mrs. A. C. South, 76, was fatally injured at 101 street and 105A avenue at 6 p.m. Thursday.

According to police reports of Friday's fatal mishap, Hollinsworth was driving his car north along 95 street at a moderate rate of speed, when at the corner of the Gyro Park playground the Lingjerde girl was crossing in an east to west direction.

She was a few feet out from the east curb when struck by the right front fender of Hollinsworth's car. The driver immediately applied his brakes and stopped on the ice-coated pavement and the car was brought under control in a few feet.

The injured girl was placed in the rear seat of the Hollinsworth car and rushed to the Royal Alexandra hospital.

The driver stated he was approaching a car with very powerful headlights and told police he did not see the pedestrian at all until he struck her.

PASSENGER IN CAR

Lorne W. Bissell, 12131 82 street, was a passenger in the car with Hollinsworth and corroborated the story told by the driver. Bissell said he was looking straight ahead from the front seat of the car but did not see the girl until after the impact occurred.

The Lingjerde girl was wearing a dark fawn coat.

Hollinsworth came to police headquarters to report the accident after rushing the injured girl to hospital.

Hollinsworth, who is 26, appeared before Magistrate Millar Saturday morning, and was arraigned on charges of manslaughter and dangerous driving. No plea was taken and accused was released on bail of $5,000, made up of two sureties of $2,500 each.

Hugh John Macdonald, K.C., M.L.A., is counsel for Hollinsworth.

Identification of the body will be made at an inquest hearing to open at the Howard and McBride funeral parlors at 11 a.m. Monday.

R.C.A.F. STUDENT PILOT IS KILLED IN EAST CRASH

CAMP BORDEN, Ont., Dec. 7—(CP) — Leading Aircraftman Stuart Tresilan Ogilvy of Moose Jaw, Sask., member of the Royal Canadian Air Force advanced training school here, was killed in a crash at Schomberg, 20 miles north of Toronto, today, R.C.A.F. officials announced.

Ogilvy was on an authorized local solo practice flight in the light training plane at the time of the crash. It is not officially known what caused the crash and a court of inquiry already has begun its investigations.

Dodecanese Island Governor Resigns In Sensational Move

One Of Original "Big Four" Of Italian Fascism Resigns Post At "Own Request" Says Government Communique

Gen. Ettore Bastico, 64-year-old commander of the motorized army of Po, and veteran of the Fascist blackshirts, was chosen by Mussolini to replace the 66-year-old count, who had been civil and military governor of the Aegean islands since November, 1936.

Nothing was published in Rome on the resignation beyond this communique:

BASTICO SUCCESSOR

"By royal decree which is to be signed, Brig.-Gen. Cesare Maria de Vecchi Conte di Val Cismon is giving up at his request the duty of commander of the forces of the Aegean and that of governor. By royal decree, likewise to be signed, Ettore Bastico, general of the army, for war merits, has been named governor of the Dodecanese and commander of those armed forces."

De Vecchi, one of Mussolini's closest lieutenants, has held many posts of trust since, as a member of Il Duce's quadrumvir, he helped lead the "march on Rome" in 1922.

Only one other of the quadrumvir—Gen. Emilio de Bono—is still a collaborator of Mussolini. He is inspector general of the Italian forces overseas. The other two, Italo Balbo and Michele Bianchi, are dead.

SURPRISE IN ROME

De Vecchi's resignation came as a surprise in Rome.

The announcement followed on the heels of one which made public the resignation of Marshal Pietro Badoglio as chief of the Italian general staff.

(The Dodecanese, lying between Turkey and Greece, are of considerable strategic importance, especially in the current Italian conflict with Greece.)

De Vecchi was appointed governor of the Dodecanese only a month after Mussolini made him governor of Rome.

He served as governor of Italian Somaliland from 1923 to 1928. In 1929 he was made Italian ambassador to the Holy See, first under the Lateran treaties of that year which ended the 59-year voluntary "imprisonment" of Popes within the Vatican.

He was awarded the Grand Cross of the Order of Pius IX by the Vatican in 1932 and held his ambassadorship until 1934, when he was made minister of education.

PARLIAMENT LEADER

Prior to the march on Rome, he had served as president of the Fascist group in parliament. A permanent member of the Fascist council, he was given the title of Count in 1925.

His successor, Gen. Bastico, was born in Bologna and was graduated from the war college in 1906 after serving as subaltern in the "Bersaglieri", plumed-hatted light infantry.

In the 1912 Italian-Turkish campaign, Bastico served as a balloon observer. He won a Coloneicy and two decorations for valor in the First Great War. He became a Major General in 1932 and went to East Africa three years later as commander of Mussolini's pet division of blackshirt fighters, known as the "Twenty-Third of March."

Bastico was commander of the blackshirt troops which captured Santander, Spain, for Gen. Francisco Franco's forces in the Spanish civil war.

De Vecchi founded the Fascist movement in Piedmont. He was wounded several times in the First Great War and in the fighting between the Fascists and their opponents in the days before Mussolini came to power.

Franco Organizes Spanish Nation For Production

MADRID, Dec. 7.—(AP)—Gen. Francisco Franco put into force Friday Spain's new syndical structure, declaring that the whole Spanish people now would be organized into a "work militia".

Once the syndical system, which organizes the country's life under government command, has reached peak efficiency, Franco said, economic Spain will become like a "gigantic syndicate of producers."

R.A.F. POUNDS GERMAN BASES IN HEAVY RAID

British Bombers Blast At Nazi Airports Across English Channel

LONDON, Dec. 7. — (CP) —The Royal Air Force detached a "powerful force" of bombers from their usual nightly raids on Germany last night to range over occupied France and the low countries and blast the airdromes from which the Germans are attacking Great Britain, the air ministry news service announced today.

At Chateaudun, 226 miles southwest of Chartres in the Plain of Orleans and at Melun, 27 miles southwest of Paris, successful raids were carried out. The Chateaudun airdrome was raided several times and explosions and fires were seen on runways and in hangars.

MANY FIRES STARTED

At Melun, "heavy bombs threw masses of debris into the air and the pilot could clearly see fragments of a building flying in every direction," the announcement said.

Other bombers started fires at Villacoublay, scored direct hits on hangars at Chartres—followed by a "spectacular explosion"—and fired gasoline stores near Lille.

Many other airdromes in occupied France were bombed and machine-gunned.

At Le Touquet, on the coast, one pilot came down to 500 feet so his gunner could spray the field with accurate fire, it was announced, and at Vitry-en-Artois a low-level attack was carried out.

In the low countries, despite clouds and ice, airdromes at Brussels, Rotterdam and Eindhoven were among those attacked.

The attack began yesterday at nightfall and lasted until several hours past midnight, the ministry said.

The channel ports of Dunkerque, Calais and Boulogne were also bombed. Two British planes were lost.

Shakeup In Command Of Royal Navy Imminent Says Daily Mail

By SIDNEY J. WILLIAMS

LONDON, Dec. 7—(BUP)—A plea that the United States navy convoy American merchant ships across the Atlantic was made today by the Daily Mail, coincident with reports that a shake-up in the British navy command was imminent because of the failure to cut down the heavy loss in British ships.

The Daily Mail urged the government to lift the censorship on naval information and bring home to the United States the urgent need of American naval aid.

"GIVE U-BOAT LOSSES"

"It might help, too, if occasionally we were given some figures on U-boat losses—a subject on which there has been almost a complete black-out since (Prime Minister Winston) Churchill left the Admiralty."

The newspaper said the United States policy of "aid short of war" made it difficult for Britain to urge that the United States use her warships to convoy her merchant ships to Britain, but it said as a compromise, "the United States navy should exercise its unchallengeable right to protect its own merchantmen in the high seas, and convoy them to, say, within 100 miles of the British shores. There they could be met by British escort craft and protected overhead by strong forces of British aircraft."

This could not be done without repealing the United States neutrality act, the newspaper said, but it added: "We don't doubt that the remaining days of the act are already numbered, and it would die quicker and the American people would be more ready for drastic measures if they were made aware of the urgency of the need."

REPLACEMENT PREDICTED

British ships are estimated to be going down at the rate of 4,000,000 tons a year now and newspapers and members of parliament have been demanding more energetic counter-measures. The replacement of Sir Dudley Pound, first sea lord, by a younger man, has been predicted by newspapers.

A. J. Cummings wrote in the News Chronicle: "There are very able naval officers who are severely critical of what they deem to be stereotyped, outdated and incorrect admiralty methods for mastering the sea menace and many think the time has come when Sir Dudley Pound should go into honorable retirement and let A. V. Alexander, first lord of the admiralty, choose an appropriate successor."

Admiral John C. Tovey, appointed commander-in-chief of the home fleet succeeding Admiral Sir Charles Forbes in a minor shake-up a few weeks ago, assumed his new duties this week. He has served most of his time on destroyers—the most aggressive vessels of the fleet—and he is expected to take direct action against U-boat lairs, especially on the French coast, as well as surface raiders.

SHIPPING PROBLEM

Increasing ship tonnage is a major problem. Experts doubt that ship building can exceed 1,000,000 tons a year, thus a deficit of 3,000,000 tons a year is in prospect. An admiralty commission which toured United States shipyards is said to be pessimistic over American production for Britain, unless the United States enters the war. It was recalled that in 1914, the United States produced only 201,000 tons of ships but when she reached her wartime stride in 1918 she produced 929 ships totalling 3,033,000 tons.

Red Army Chiefs Pledge Readiness Fight Any Enemy

MOSCOW, Dec. 7—(AP)—Communist party conferences of the Red army have pledged to Joseph Stalin a readiness to "Fight any minute" to "defeat any enemy," it was disclosed today.

The pledge containing those words was put to them by Gen. Ivan Popoff, commander of the 1st Far Eastern army, in a meeting of officers and commissars of troops who are members of the Communist party.

The meeting was held at a place designated only as "the Far Eastern front."

Germany's standpoint has not been worth the stakes.

It is difficult to dissociate the reports of Franz Von Papen's peace explorations at Ankara from yesterday's resignation of Marshal Badoglio, followed today by the voluntary retirement of General De Vecchi as governor of the Dodecanese Islands. The two leaders have different classes of followers in Italy, but both now seem to be out of sympathy with the trend of events in Rome.

The appointment of General Cavallero to succeed Marshal Badoglio as chief of staff, too, may have its explanation in the peace movement, since he is more skilled in diplomatic and political negotiations than in military strategy. General Cavallero's strong pro-German inclinations, too, would make him an appropriate head of the Italian army if Hitler has persuaded Mussolini that peace with Greece is considered by Germany to be necessary for the higher interests of the axis.

Germany has shown much shrewdness by inviting the Turks to carry a peace proposal to Greece. It would be advantageous to the Turks if the Greek war were to end because its continuation makes possible a turn of events that would involve Turkey.

At the same time with Greece a belligerent, Turkey would be in a safer position if Germany were to start an offensive against the Turks in an attempt to reach Suez. Greece would then be a Turkish ally, forming a base for air attacks against the Germans.

TURKEY IN QUANDARY

Therefore, Turkey is in a quandary. The Germans have shown no immediate tendency to attack the Dardanelles, but they would be in a better strategic position to do so next spring if in the meantime Greece had made peace with Italy.

British war interests should favor continuation of the Greek war with the eventual objective of increasing whatever discord there may be in Italy and so trying to drive Italy out of the war as Germany drove France to defeat. It is incredible that the Germans have neglecetd to foresee this possibility, which may well be one reason why Hitler wants the Greek campagin to terminate.

The Greek policy is complicated. Theoretically, it might be to the advantage of Greece to make peace at this time on favorable terms, if there were no ulterior considerations.

But, Belgrade reports imply that Germany wants the Greeks to join the Axis economic confederation, which would make the Athens government subservient to Berlin. Whatever be the other peace terms, any such agreement would really mean Greece had lost the war instead of having carried the conflict into Albanian territory.

On the other hand, the Greeks must consider the possibility of eventual aid to Italy, if the war goes on and the Italians continue to be defeated. The Greeks will have to balance this possible development against British aid, and in the end their decision will be influenced by their ambition to help keep alive in Europe the spirit of democracy that originated in ancient Greece.

Cardinal O'Connell Urges Americans To Seek Just Peace

BOSTON, Dec. 7—(AP)—William Cardinal O'Connell today denounced "propagandists" who, he said, were attempting to get the United States into war, and called upon the American people to work for peace "based on justice," instead of on the "power politics of Europe."

In an interview on the eve of his 81st birthday, the Dean of the Catholic Hierarchy in America said:

"Notwithstanding the too prevalent propaganda from all sides the hope and prayer of the American people today is that we shall be spared the horrors of war."

Bomb Damage

MANCHESTER, Dec. 7—(CP)—Manchester University and the College of Technology were among buildings bombed in German air raids on northwest England, it was disclosed today. Salford town hall also has been hit.

Hon. Dr. Aristide Blais, senator for Edmonton, returned to the city Saturday from Ottawa. He is at the Macdonald.

JAPAN CLAIMS BRITAIN PLANS CHINESE PACT

Newspapers State Secret Military Alliance Is Being Planned

SHANGHAI, Dec. 7.—(AP)—Japanese local press reports said today that negotiations are pending in Chungking for a "secret Anglo-Chinese military alliance."

The papers credited "reliable Chinese sources" for their information, and said the negotiations were between Gen. Chiang Kai-Shek and Sir Archibald Clark Kerr, British ambassador to China.

(These reports were probably a "feeler" put out by the Japanese in the hope of drawing comment from official sources. There has been no previous indication that any such negotiations are in progress or are contemplated.)

According to these reports, the provisions of the alliance would be:

1—Britain will assist China in transporting war material and other goods from India, Burma and Singapore to China.

2—Aircraft assembly plants will be established in India, Burma and Singapore to supply Chungking with aircraft.

3—Chinese South Seas natives in British possessions will be induced to support Anglo-Chinese co-operation.

4—All land and air forces under Chiang's command will be under the command of Sir Robert Brooke-Popham, commander in chief of the British Far Eastern forces at Singapore, in the event Britain declares war against Japan.

SEA BATTLE IN PROSPECT OFF URUGUAY

widespread that the ship actually was a sister to the pocket battleship Graf Spee, which is a charred derelict just outside the harbor of Montevideo — destroyed by its crew to avoid another battle with three British cruisers which chased it to port.

The newspaper El Diario said it might be the Admiral Scheer, which has been reported loose in the Atlantic.

By a strange turn of events, it was believed that the Carnarvon Castle might be bringing back some of the former Graf Spee crew. It was recalled that the Brazilian steamer Itape was stopped by the Carnarvon Castle on December 4, and 22 of its German passengers, reportedly some escapees from the interned Graf Spee crew, were taken aboard.

Believed Same Type Of Ship As Altmark

LONDON, Dec. 7.—(BUP)—British naval experts said today that the German sea raider which battled the British armed merchant cruiser Carnarvon Castle probably was a ship of 10,000 to 12,000 tons of the type of the former German prison ship Altmark. Its speed would be about nineteen knots.

This, they said, would explain her ability to outrun the Carnarvon Castle, which had a speed of seventeen knots. The admiralty had reported the German ships "steaming north at high speed away from the scene of action," when the British ship gave chase.

It was believed in London that the German ship was an armed merchantman rather than a pocket battleship and that it mounted eight 5.9-inch guns, since that was the armament known to be on a German raider operating in the Atlantic six months ago.

Raider Said Rebuilt Passenger Vessel

By JOHN A. MOROSO

NEW YORK, Dec. 7—(AP)—A masquerading German sea raider prowling southern waters, laying hundreds of mines and capturing and sinking enemy merchantmen, is a rebuilt passenger liner—so large that she has been equipped for a three-year voyage.

This was told to the Associated Press Friday by Capt. Cornelius Arundell, British skipper who was imprisoned on the vessel for 64 days after the raider sank his ship, the 5,207-ton Haxby, near Bermuda.

HAS "STAGE PROPS"

The German marauder leads a chameleon-like existence, carrying elaborate "stage props" to change her appearance from day to day. She even is equipped with a telescopic funnel to change further her superstructure.

Capt. Arundell, 49, who came here from England to command a United States freighter recently purchased by Britain, was bound by Admiralty secrecy not to identify the raider, her size, and other data, but he did give this picture:

"She was a decent size man-of-war, much more than 10,000 tons. If you knew her name you would be surprised. Her skipper is a frigate captain about 42 years old.

"She carries six guns, four of them broadside and other arms, including a huge supply of mines.

TELESCOPIC FUNNEL

"While I was aboard she changed her disguise from a Greek ship to a Brazilian and then a Dutchman. Through special rebuilding and light steel plates she could change her entire superstructure in a short time. A telescopic funnel helped do this.

"Her superstructure was constantly being repainted—in the morning it would be white and before night it would be buff. This gives you an idea of the huge crew she carried."

(Capt. Arundell dodged questions on the exact size of the crew but acknowledged that it comprised more than 300 men.)

"She slipped out of Hamburg April 6 while the British navy was rushing to Norway to fight the German invasion there. My ship was her first victim."

KILLS 16 OF CREW

En route from Greenock to Corpus Christi, Texas, last April, the Haxby sighted what appeared to be a Greek ship. A moment later the vessel crossed her bows and began firing without warning.

"They killed 16 of my men, smashed the lifeboats and set the ship on fire before we abandoned her," said Capt. Arundell.

The 24 survivors among the Haxby's crew were taken aboard the raider and on June 18 the Britons were placed on a captured Norwegian freighter, the Tropic Sea.

The Tropic Sea was scuttled 70 days later by her German prize crew when a British submarine accosted her off Bordeaux. The Britons were rescued by the submarine and taken to Gibraltar.

Second Raid On Windsor Castle Now Announced

LONDON, Dec. 7. — (BUP) — A second raid on Windsor Castle, summer home of the Royal family, was reported today. It came the night after three bombs had been dropped on the Castle grounds.

In the second raid a number of high explosive bombs fell in the Castle's great park. Two fell in the gardens of the Royal Lodge, breaking all its windows. There was no other damage and no casualties. The King and Queen were not at the Castle at the time.

equal struggle, forced upon it by an enemy whose actions are motivated by cruelty and violence, I am deeply moved by the warm sympathy and the keen interest manifested by the great nation whose destinies you guide.

"The noble American people have often in the past rendered assistance to my country in all critical moments of its history, and the recent organization of the Greek war relief association is further proof that Philhellenism continues to inspire Americans of today in their lofty aims.

FIGHT FOR PRINCIPLES

"Guardians across the seas of the ideals for which throughout the centuries Greeks have lived and died, Americans today are aware that the Greek nation is again fighting for the principles of justice, truth, and liberty, without which life for us is inconceivable.

"I wish to assure you that with the help of the Almighty, we will march forward until our sacred struggle is crowned with success. All moral and material assistance will strengthen the heroic Greek army and will bring it nearer to victory."

In reply President Roosevelt said: "I thank Your Majesty for your friendly message which comes at a time when all free peoples are deeply impressed by the courage and steadfastness of the Greek nation.

FOLLOWS POLICY

"The American Red Cross has already sent substantial amounts of funds and supplies for the relief of suffering in your country and I am sure that my countrymen will give generously to the new organizations which are being established for the same purpose.

"As Your Majesty knows, it is the settled policy of the United States government to extend aid to those governments and peoples who defend themselves against aggression.

"I assure Your Majesty that steps are being taken to extend such aid to Greece which is defending itself so valiantly."

ITALY TAKING ACTION TO HALT HOLDING FOOD

Imprisonment, Confiscation Decreed For Farmers In New Order

ROME, Dec. 7 — (CP) — Imprisonment for a year and confiscation of his crops has been ordered for any Italian farmer who withholds his products from compulsory storage. The provision was adopted in a cabinet meeting four days ago, but announced only today.

"The basic importance of storage of agricultural products for supply of the armed forces and the civilian population requires this more severe exemplary suppression of any lack of discipline and comprehension of superior national necessities," said an official statement.

(If there has been any lack of farmer collaboration with Italy's efforts to mobilize her resources for war previous dispatches have not indicated it.)

War needs also impelled the government to order "greatest impetus" in production of war materials, particularly those for war industries, with mines to be worked to capacity. The announcement said that penalties were provided against mine owners who failed to carry out the speed-up order.

(Previous dispatches from Rome have indicated no "lack of discipline" or "comprehension" among Italian farmers, but Italy, weaker of the two Axis powers in material resources, was reported November 29 by the United States Department of Agriculture to be facing a winter shortage of sorely needed foodstuffs and raw agricultural materials.

(The Agriculture Department declared that the British blockade of the Mediterranean had cut off more than 80 per cent of Italy's imports.)

FLYING SCHOOLS SHOW PROGRESS REPORT STATES

OTTAWA, Dec. 7.—(CP)—Progress in establishing civil operating companies for elementary flying training schools operating under the British Commonwealth Air Training plan was outlined at the 12th annual meeting of the Canadian Flying Clubs Association, according to a report issued by the association today.

The report showed that 17 of the 18 elementary schools operated in Canada were organized by member flying clubs of the association. It was expected the association would be required to organize only eight clubs, but acceleration of the plan resulted in organization of 16 schools this year. Two more are ready for early in 1941.

Since the scheme went into operation 2,500 pilots have been graduated, 250 of them entering the Royal Air Force. Flying time for the first nine months this year was 37,014 hours compared with 31,730 for the whole of 1939.

STOP-THE-WAR VOTE SEEKER IS DEFEATED

NORTHAMPTON, Eng., Dec. 7.—(CP Cable)—Gerard Summers, 38, Conservative, was elected to the House of Commons from Northampton in a by-election today, defeating W. S. Seamark, 37, local butcher, running as a stop-the-war candidate.

The vote was 16,587 to 1,167. In the 1935 general election Sir Mervyn Manningham-Buller, Conservative, polled 25,438 votes to 23,983 for R. T. Paget, Labor.

Mr. Seamark, who described himself as a Christian Pacifist, was the 10th stop-the-war candidate to forfeit his deposit in by-elections since the war began.

Red Cross Director Makes Apology For Recent Statement

OTTAWA, Dec. 7— (CP) — Dr. Robert McClure, international Red Cross director for China, after what he termed a "full and frank discussion" with Dr. O. D. Skelton, under-secretary of state for foreign affairs, issued a statement today in which he said he was convinced the Canadian government was doing everything possible to prevent Canadian nickel reaching Japan.

"I am therefore desirous," Dr. McClure said, "of expressing my apology to the prime minister and his government in regard to my statement in Toronto Wednesday."

PAPEN SEEKS ARMISTICE IN ALBANIA WAR

German Wants Turkish Mediation To Secure New Truce

By FREDERICK KUH

LONDON, Dec. 7. — (BUP) — Diplomatic quarters said today that Baron Franz Von Papen, German ambassador to Turkey, has attempted through Turkish mediation to arrange peace or at least an armistice in the Italian-Greek hostilities.

Diplomatic reports reaching London from Belgrade said that Papen had discussed possibility of an Italian-Greek armistice with Turkish Foreign Minister Sukru Saracoglu but it was believed that Greek Premier John Metaxas, whose armies still are scoring victories against the Italians in Albania, has shown no enthusiasm for Germany's efforts.

"REWARD" OFFERED

The Belgrade newspaper Politika Vreme was reported in Belgrade dispatches to have received information from Berlin that Saracoglu soon might meet Metaxas at Salonika as result of Papen's reported efforts to use Turkish influence with Greece in favor of an armistice.

Papen was said to have suggested to Saracoglu that Greece could have peace by repudiating Britain's guarantee to defend Greek independence. As a "reward," it was reported, Greece would be allowed to participate in Adolf Hitler's new order for Europe and receive a German pledge similar to that given to Rumania. Such a pledge would replace the British guarantee to Greece.

Reports of Papen's activities were not confirmed in any official quarter nor were there any indications that Metaxas was inclined to listen to the Papen suggestions.

NEED GREEK PRODUCE

Diplomatic quarters here attributed Papen's alleged peace move mainly to the serious reverses which Greece has inflicted on Italy. But the move also was attributed to Hitler's desire to restore sufficient tranquility in Greece to enable Germany to obtain much needed chrome, fruits, raisins and other Greek produce needed by Germany.

Turkish circles in London believed that Greece would continue in the war. It was pointed out here that Britain has kept her pledge and has given Greece the maximum of armed aid and supplies. Turkish quarters here were candid in saying that they had been impressed favorably by the extent of the British support to the Greeks.

U.S. To Exchange Destroyers For Mexican Bases

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 7.—(AP)—An authoritative source reported Friday negotiations are under way for transfer of several over-age United States destroyers to Mexico in exchange for use of Mexican naval facilities and other concessions.

This source said that while conversations had been in progress for several weeks between the state department in Washington and the foreign office here, no agreement had yet been reached.

Rumania Taking Action Against British Officials

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Dec. 7—(AP)—Proceedings were started today against directors of the British-controlled Astra-Romano Oil Company charged with swindling the Rumanian government of 2,000,000 lei through drilling wells allegedly infringing on state property. All but one of the directors are Britons. They have left Rumania.

to show the war-torn veterans who fought and won, that they are not forgotten.

For some of the soldier patients in the Military Ward, it has been more than 22 years on hospital cots, suffering agonies from cruel wounds received in action; wounds that will not heal.

In these times when boys are once more going off to war, don't forget the Old Brigade, the men who fought the good fight and triumphed. It will enourage youth of today, if, going overseas, they see that the wounded are remembered at Christmas.

Each and every person has a chance to show the boys that are not forgotten—just a kind remembrance to show that their sacrifices are appreciated. Send in your donation now, today, to The Bulletin and it will be acknowledged in these columns. Don't delay. Time is fleeting. Do it now and you will realize that you have assisted in bringing good cheer to someone who appreciates it.

Greek units were reported advancing from Porto Edda with a new battle cry — "Tirana by Christmas!" Tirana is the Albanian capital.

Greek troops were reported striking full force at Italian units retreating across the last mountain ridges toward the Albanian foothill towns of Chimara, Tepelini and Elbasani.

Beyond these key towns the jumbled ridges through which the Greeks have driven their fierce counter-invasion of Albania drop away quickly to the coastal plain and lowlands along the Adriatic.

BEYOND PORTO EDDA

A government spokesman declared today that Greek advance units were pushing steadily beyond smoldering Porto Edda in fighting contact with the Italian rear guard which sought to cover the Fascist withdrawal up to the coastal road to Chimara, 20 miles north.

Tepeleni, where the road north, like that through Chimara, leads to the important port of Valona, was reported menaced also by a Greek thrust from the east.

The Greeks were said to be driving a spearhead toward Tepeleni from Premet, less than 20 miles east along the Vioea valley road.

AIR TRAINING MONTHS AHEAD POWER STATES

Empire Plan Will Be In Full Operation By September

MONTREAL, Dec. 7.—(CP)—Air Minister Power told the Montreal Junior Board of Trade Friday night that "if our luck continues" the Commonwealth Air Training Plan will be in full operation by next Sept. 1.

"The plan is a success," the air minister said, "because we have produced pilots, and we have sent them overseas; we are in advance in our production, and, if our luck continues, we will, by Sept. 1 of next year, have the whole plan in full operation, and will be turning out the thousands of pilots called for, from eight months to a year ahead of the time at which it was anticipated we would be able to."

Stressing Canada's vital importance in the Empire's war effort, Mr. Power said:

"It is to the air force we must look, first to get supremacy in the air, and then to take the offensive that will make victory possible in the long run.

"If we do succeed, and our hopes and expectations are realized, there isn't the slightest doubt that the production of this joint British Commonwealth Air Training program—the pilots whom we will send, the observers to help steer the machines, the gunners to help shoot down the Hun—will be a decisive factor in the victory which we will attain, when we have obtained supremacy in the air."

OTTAWA HOUSE ADJOURNS FOR INTERMISSION

Will Re-Assemble Feb. 17 —Conservation Measures Put Through

OTTAWA, Dec. 7.—(CP)—Opposition charges that the government was taking upon itself too many of the powers normally reserved for parliament, were heard in both house of commons and senate Friday night as the first stage of the present session ended.

Two foreign exchange conservation measures, only government legislation to be brought down during the fall sitting, were rushed through the senate in a few minutes after two days' debate in the house of commons.

Chief Justice Sir Lyman Duff, deputy of the governor-general, came to the senate at 6:30 p.m., M.S.T., and gave royal assent to the two bills. At 6:45 the house of commons adjourned to next Feb. 17, subject to recall in the interim if an emergency makes it necessary, and the senate until March 4.

The two measures introduced by Finance Minister J. L. Ilsley to carry out the government's program for conservation of exchange give wide powers to the government to prohibit imports and to assist industries which may be able to expand exports and thus increase the inflow of foreign exchange.

"GOING THE LIMIT"

Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, Conservative leader in the Senate, declared the government was virtually going the limit in taking upon itself extraordinary powers.

This policy was as far from parliamentary rules as "Hitlerism is from Churchillism," he declared. It was a "complete abdication of parliamentary rights."

Similar charges had been made in the House of Commons by Conservative Leader Hanson and several of his colleagues.

Senator Meighen also took occasion to discuss the excess profits tax which he said was unworkable and unfair in its present set-up.

The House of Commons sat through the dinner recess in order to conclude work on the tax and tariff measures, which involved a bill to amend the special war revenue act, increasing the excise tax on certain commodities, and a war exchange conservation act providing power to prohibit or license imports from non-sterling areas, lower the tariff rate on certain United Kingdom products and give taxation concessions to exporting enterprise.

MINISTER APPLAUDED

Attendance in both chambers dwindled to a bare majority as the evening advanced, and there was no enthusiasm except when the finance minister's bills were finally disposed of in the House and sent over to the Senate. Then there was a round of applause from all parties, apparently a compliment to the young minister who had been under constant questioning.

Pensions Minister Mackenzie, prevented by illness from giving a report to parliament at the time other ministers associated with the war effort spoke in the debate on the throne speech, was permitted to place his report on Hansard unread. He made a brief statement outlining the government's determination to take care of those who fight the country's battles.

During the afternoon there had been persistent questioning on many aspects of the taxation and trade provisions, particularly with reference to taxation concessions which may be made at the discretion of the government, and to the removal of duty on United Kingdom products.

ALBERTA PROTESTS

Nova Scotia and Alberta members protested against the proposed free entry of bituminous coal from the United Kingdom, and other members registered their opposition to the power being taken by the government to make tax concessions to certain industries in order to assist export business.

Earlier in the day Conservative Leader Hanson urged that Canadian companies should not be "taxed to death" during the war.

"They must be sound and able to withstand the depression that may come to this country after the war," he said, "so that they may be in a position to give employment in this country in times when employment may be sadly needed."

Mr. Hanson's comment drew a stiff reply from Mr. Ilsley who said the Conservative house leader had changed his stand since the last parliamentary session.

The minister said he was not prepared to abandon the principles established previously—that companies should not be allowed to strengthen themselves or build up reserves during the war.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE

The exchange came while the house was considering the finance minister's foreign exchange conservation measures.

The first of these, providing for increases in the excise tax on certain commodities, was put through all stages and sent to the senate where it also was approved.

Replying to Mr. Hanson's comment on taxation of business, Mr. Ilsley said that last spring the Conservative house leader had argued for a 100 per cent excess profits tax, instead of the 75 per cent tax which was imposed.

"People in this house cannot take two stands," he said. "I am not talking about the honorable gentleman particularly," he added.

"The feeling last year was that business interests were not to be allowed to use the war or war period as a means of making profits in excess of normal.

"Now a new doctrine has arisen I am not prepared to condemn it now, but it is certainly contrary to that (former) doctrine. We find it in the financial press. Today one hears it from the lips of the opposition leader. The sentiments he now expresses are very different from his stand last spring when he was in favor of taking from these companies all the excess profits they earned during the war."

"MIDDLE GROUND"

"There may be a middle ground," the minister continued. "I pleaded for moderation last spring in this house. I said that in view of the fact that a great deal of our capital in this country had come from the outside, and the fact that a great many of our people would do better if the profit incentive were left.

"I pleaded for moderation, but our C.C.F. friends said 'No, take it all away from them.' And my honorable friend (Mr. Hanson) and many of the members of his party joined with them.

"I knew that at every session he would have more and more members who would rise in their places and say 'be a little easier on these companies.'

"I am prepared to listen to all requests, but I am not prepared to abandon the principle we laid down at the beginning—namely that companies during this war period shall not be allowed to strengthen or buttress their positions, or to build up reserves and make themselves prosperous thinking that later there may be a loss of prosperity."

HANSON STATEMENT

Mr. Hanson said he wanted no one to think he was "championing the bondholders of these companies." He feared that that would arise in the minds of some, and said he had "even heard that the whole basis of the Rowell-Sirois report was to protect the bondholders of the provinces at the expense of the Dominion."

He said he had never thought that to be "the genesis" of the report and he did not think so now, "but there are people who will say it, and the minister will hear it before this session is over."

Discussion of the schedules in the import restrictions measure in committee of ways and means brought questions from all sides as the commodities were called one by one.

The house in committee of ways and means took up the schedules of commodities on the prohibited and licensed lists, calling each item individually.

FRUIT PROCESSING

Replying to a question by George Cruickshank (Lib., Fraser Valley) the minister said no provision was made to prevent processing in British Columbia of imported fruit and vegetables.

Mr. Cruickshank said farmers in British Columbia had to let fruit rot on the ground while fruit from the United States was being imported for processing in local refineries.

During the evening, Mr. Hanson asked the minister to give attention to "the excessive use of gasoline in army services." He said a contract recently had been announced for $600 worth of gasoline for a "little" training school in New Brunswick, where there was no motorized equipment apart from some cars for the use of officers.

Mr. Ilsley told one questioner that imports of petroleum products in 1939 were valued at $55,913,177, of which $39,500,000 worth came from non-Empire countries.

C.C.F. PROTEST

M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. house leader, protested against any wartime excess profits being left with industry. The 75 per cent tax on excess profits was inadequate in itself and was applied to an inequitable base in the case of many corporations which made profits of 30 or 40 per cent in recent years.

Gold mining, too, has been relieved of several forms of taxation.

"The explanation is made that we need gold," he said.

"Of course we require the gold but the necessities of the country ought not to be an excuse for corporations escaping taxation."

It had been suggested that the C.C.F. wanted to take over all industry but this was not so, Mr. Coldwell declared. The C.C.F. wished to nationalize only industries essential to the war effort, mining and the banks.

By progressive steps the nation would take out of private hands private profit-motivated monopolies.

"We believe that more people should own more property and a few people should own a great deal less property."

One of the things that would bring about such a change more quickly than anything else was the kind of "class legislation" the government was sponsoring at the moment—which would enable it to make special tax exemptions to certain exporters. He objected to such power being placed in the hands of any government.

The trouble was that industry refused to operate unless it was assured of a profit.

CHEAP PRODUCTION

John Blackmore, leader of the new democracy, said the minister could, by means of assisting the Canadian producer with debt free money, make it possible to produce so cheaply that exports would be heavily increased without any necessity for increased taxation or production restrictions.

Under the present economic system, either profit or regimentation was necessary to obtain production. As soon as men were forced to produce, democracy was denied.

Needs Strapping

Comely model Arabella ("Bunny") Hartley "needs a good strapping," she was told by New York magistrate William Ringel. He was irate because she haled ex-husband to court on assault charge, then withdrew accusation, later failed to appear to answer cop's charge of disorderly conduct, and in general had things a-dither. She's pictured after judge gave her ten days in workhouse, suspended pending good behavior.

MACKENZIE IS FOR SOUNDER SOCIAL ORDER

Pensions Minister Urges Higher Conception Of Public Service

OTTAWA, Dec. 7. — (CP) — A sounder social system based on a higher conception of public service was urged Friday night by Pensions Minister Mackenzie, in the House of Commons as he reviewed the work of his department.

"I do not wish to condemn economic, monetary and social systems of the past," he said, "but surely our future society can be better built if we benefit from the mistakes of the past, and preserve the fundamental principles which existed in the period which lies behind."

In all adversity lay great opportunity, he said, declaring his belief in "true and controlled capitalism"—simply man sharing in the benefits of nature."

CAUSE OF DISTRESS

"In other words," he said, "sweat and toil applied to the natural world. Men using their hands and their muscles to create natural wealth and industry, instead of, through idleness, enjoying the unearned increment of capital."

He had no prejudice against men who through success and enterprise had accumulated some wealth, but the rapidly-growing principle of living on the unearned increment of capital, instead of digging and providing capital to mankind, had been "one of the cardinal departures from fundamental principles, which, to say the least, has caused distress, class distinction and unhappiness."

In his departmental review the minister explained what was being done now to rehabilitate the ex-service men of this war.

About 20,000 men had been discharged from the armed services altogether, but many of these were persons who did some temporary guard duties in their own localities, he said.

HUMAN PROBLEM

About 1,000 men had been returned from overseas service, two-thirds of whom had been discharged into civil life involving special placements and welfare problems. To handle such work a veterans' welfare division had been set up in his department.

So parliament would have opportunity to review existing pensions legislation, all orders-in-council passed in recent months in that connection would be incorporated in a bill, which would be referred to a special committee of the house.

"There is no desire on the part of the government or the department, to assume the role of omniscience in connection with this very human and complex problem," he said. The government was anxious to receive the co-operation and advice of the house.

He stated a general advisory committee had been set up, under the chairmanship of the Canadian pension commission, with a series of sub-committees on specialized phases of the problem.

The minister said the sub-committee on vocational and technical training and re-training, favored occupational training for men so disable as to be unable to return to their former occupations.

SPECIAL CASUALTIES

The sub-committee on he-training special casualties had arranged for the training in England of overseas sight casualties, up to a certain point, at the expense of the Canadian government. This committee also believed that amputation cases should be returned to Canada as quickly as possible.

The sub-committee on administration of special funds and advised it was keeping a "close eye" on any special funds. After the last war there were surpluses from the Patriotic Fund, Canteen Fund and other sources which were devoted to the welfare of ex-service men.

"None of us is altogether satisfied that these funds were applied to the best advantage," the minister commented.

'Flu "Epidemic" At Coast Spreads To University

VANCOUVER, Dec. 7.—(CP)—Vancouver's influenza "epidemic" hit the University of British Columbia Friday, causing postponement of a campus theatrical production scheduled for last night.

"Nearly half the players and directors have been laid up with the 'flu," said an official of the school. "It has been impossible to bring the full cast together for rehearsals and we have had to postpone the show until sometime in January."

Colpitts Pleads Not Guilty In Calgary Court

CALGARY, Dec. 7.—(CP)—William Colpitts, suspended fur farm supervisor for Alberta, pleaded not guilty at the criminal assizes Friday to a charge of having accepted a gift of $150 from Harold Simpson, Calgary fur dealer, in return for efforts to secure Simpson a license to deal in furs.

Electing trial by Mr. Justice A. F. Ewing, sitting without a jury, Mr. Colpitts' hearing will proceed next week.

PLAUNT REASON FOR RESIGNING GIVEN COMMONS

OTTAWA, Dec. 7.— (CP)—Failure to secure adoption of his proposals for revamping the internal organization of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation led to the resignation of Alan B. Plaunt as a member of the corporation's board of governors, according to documents tabled in the House of Commons Friday.

The bulky volume of documents contained Mr. Plaunt's letter of resignation to Munitions Minister Howe, Mr. Howe's reply, a report made by Mr. Plaunt on the CBC organization, a report by James C. Thompson, member of a Toronto firm of auditors, and a letter by Mr. Plaunt to Rene Morin, chairman of the board of governors, in which he set out in detail his reasons for resignation.

In his report Mr. Plaunt said salaries paid to members of the corporation staff were out of line, that incompetent persons were retained, that the effect on the morale of the whole staff was bad.

Mr. Thompson suggested the centralization of headquarters departments of the corporation—now distributed between Ottawa, Toronto and Montreal—in Montreal or Toronto, and Mr. Plaunt said Montreal was the logical place for them.

WIDER MARKET FOR ALBERTA'S COAL IS URGED

OTTAWA, Dec. 7. — (CP) — If British bituminous coal is to be admitted to Canada duty free, American bituminous coal should be admitted only on a quota basis to preserve existing markets of Nova Scotia coal, Clarence Gillis (C.C.F., Cape Breton South) said Friday night in the House of Commons.

Any British coal admitted free should be made to replace part of the 10,000,000 tons of American bituminous coal imported last year.

Nova Scotia's coal industry already was far below capacity production. He proposed that the Canadian market be governed so as not to dislocate the natural markets for Canadian coal.

F. C. Casselman (Lib., Edmonton East) said if the government really was serious about saving American exchange it should consider means of expanding domestic markets for Alberta coal.

C. E. Johnston (N.D., Bow River) said he could see no justification for free admission of British bituminous coal while soft coal miners in Canada were out of work. He believed there should be a prohibition on coal imports from the United States to the extent that importation was increased from the United Kingdom.

WINDSOR PAYS FINE TRIBUTE TO MARINERS

Britain's Merchant Marine Praised By Duke In Broadcast

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—(CP)—The Duke of Windsor, speaking as a sailor, paid tribute Friday night to the men of Britain's merchant marine who he said are mobilized in wartime "for the most arduous, exacting and hazardous duty."

From Nassau, the Bahamas, of which he is governor, he spoke on a broadcast program on which two British sailors who drifted 71 days in an open boat after their ship had been sunk by a German raider told of their epic voyage across the South Atlantic. With him at the microphone was the Duchess of Windsor.

DRIFTED 71 DAYS

The men were Robert Tapscott and Wilbert Widdicombe. Their ship, the British freighter Anglo-Saxon, was sunk Aug. 21. With five other men, Tapscott and Widdicombe escaped in an 18-foot rowboat, provisioned for only five days. Two of the seven men died of injuries and thirst. Three others dropped overside when they could no longer stand their sufferings. Widdicombe and Tapscott drifted for 71 days before reaching the Bahamas.

Moved by the men's recital of their voyage, the Duke consented to go on the air at conclusion of the story. His Royal Highness said:

"This epic of the sea prompts me to pay a word of tribute to the men of the merchant navy and the fishing fleet, normally engaged in the great service of the sea in times of peace.

"In war, they are mobilized for the most arduous, exacting and hazardous duty. Not only do they man the ships which supply Great Britain with her many vital supplies, but to them also is entrusted the task of sweeping the channels clear of mines in order that the merchant vessels may reach their various destinations.

PROUD OF PROFESSION

"My generation of the merchant service performed the same work in the last conflict. And it was in recognition of those services that it was considered right and proper that among the honorable titles of Great Britain there should be a master of the merchant navy and fishing fleet.

"Maybe it was because I was raised as a sailor, and that my war travels had brought me into close touch with the merchant marine, that this title was conferred upon me as Prince of Wales. And I need hardly assure you how proud I was to be thus associated with so magnificent a profession. . . .

"Now, I have been profoundly touched by reading of all that many Americans are doing toward relieving the sufferings of those directly and indirectly engaged in this war. I feel I can assure those open-hearted and understanding folks, that such inadequate words as gratitude and appreciation could not in anyway describe the encouragement that their various efforts must be bringing, to the hearts of the people of Great Britain at the present time. . . .

"The Duchess is with me here tonight as I am speaking to you. As an American she asks me to say how much pride and sympathetic interest she takes in these friendly activities and demonstrations of goodwill, on the part of so many of her countrymen and countrywomen."

Young men practiced the art of carving on wooden models of game and poultry under the supervision of a carving master to the accompaniment of music, in ancient Rome.

The "New Order" Not Wanted

Turkey has changed sides on the trade question. Before the war that country did less than 10 per cent of its trading abroad with Britain, 50 per cent with Germany. It has now made a new agreement with Britain, which is designed to increase the flow of goods in both directions, with Turkish money pegged in relation to the pound sterling. The deal is more significant because Von Papen has been trying to coax Turkey into the Nazi "orbit" with one of those shell-game barter arrangements that have proved to be the thin ends of aggression wedges in two at least of the Balkan states.

Turkey thus shows that it prefers, and intends, to trade abroad as an equal, not as a vassal of the Reich; to sell where it can get the best price and buy where it can get the best value for its money. It shows also that the Government at Ankara has heard the old maxim about those who sup with the devil needing a long spoon, and decided that the better course is not to sup with his present No. 1 representative. The devil might on occasion trade fair; a Hitler trade pact has been used everywhere as a communication line along which to send Nazi propaganda and fifth columnists.

A Fall-Out At Rome

Port Edda has fallen, and Badoglio has resigned. Either event would be militarily important. Together they bear witness to far-reaching consequences of the battle won by Greek valor and leadership with naval and air aid from Britain.

Capture of the Port clears the Greek frontier. Without it Argirocastro is useless as a base, except for a last-ditch fight, which the Italian forces are in no mood to make, and untenable in any case. Greek territory is now nowhere threatened, and the question is where the enemy will stop running and make a stand.

The resignation of the Marshal can only mean that there has been a first-class "row" at the Fascist headquarters. Badoglio was Italy's "strong man" in the military sense, head of its fighting forces on land, sea and in the air. If he resigned voluntarily, the implication is that Il Duce over-ruled him in sending Graziana to Libya or in launching the attack on Greece, or in both. If he was "fired," Mussolini's most trusted commander is thus declared to have been found incompetent.

Badoglio's successor is General Cavallero, who has been doing nothing in particular with superior Italian forces in East Africa other than terrifying the Abyssinians—who may celebrate his departure by appropriate action. He inherits the task of stopping the rout in Albania of a thoroughly dispirited army, winning back the lost prestige, and fighting for bases from which to launch a new offensive against the Greeks. If he succeeds he will have to be a better man than the one Il Duce thought best qualified to command his forces in every branch and on every front.

Where Britain Stands

Four members of the British House of Commons out of 345 voted to instruct Prime Minister Churchill to ask for a treaty of peace with the Axis powers. They might just as well have framed their resolution to say Churchill should ask Hitler on what terms he would be graciously pleased to allow Britain and the other Empire countries to exist as nominal political entities under his august overlordship.

The continent of Europe is strewn with the wrecks of nations which proclaim the terms on which Britain and allied countries could obtain a state of non-belligerency with Nazi Germany, while the history of the last ten years is black-typed proof that a Hitler covenant is only documented perjury. As for "peace," there can be none on earth until Hitler is dethroned and the savagery he stands for repudiated by the people of Germany.

The vote did one thing altogether good. It showed the world how trifling is the Quisling element in Britain, and how thoroughly it is despised by the masses of all other sections. The friends of democracy everywhere now know there is no weakening of public morale there, no lingering faith in appeasement, no addle-headed hope that aggression is or can be anything else than aggression. Either Hitlerism will be smashed or Britain will be destroyed; that is what the all-but unanimous vote says.

Wherever in the world people govern themselves and want to go on doing so, this proclamation of British resolution will evoke pride in the courage of freemen facing fearful odds, will inspire confidence in the eventual triumph of liberty defended by such valor, and—it is to be hoped—will bring response in the shape of all possible material help.

Why Letters Don't Arrive On Time

During the week ending Nov. 23rd, 162,120 letters, 60,640 parcels and 324 bags of newspapers were handled at the Base Post Office in Canada for despatch to Canadian troops oversea. The figures emphasize the importance of addressing letters and parcels intended for oversea soldiers with the utmost care. Where such a great volume of matter has to be handled, busy clerks have little time to correct obvious mistakes in addresses, or to guess when the destination is indefinitely indicated. About all they can be expected to do in case of doubt is to send the letter or parcel along to the dead letter office, for return to the sender.

It is disclosed that when the Beaverford went down it took a large consignment of mail for men in our oversea forces, including 11,000 parcels of tobacco. This one sinking means there have been something more than 11,000 cases—perhaps twice that number—in which mail did not reach the addressees, most of whom were no doubt actually expecting, and all eagerly hoping, to get letters or parcels from friends at home. Every mailship that goes down adds its quota to the mail matter which never reaches its multitude of intended recipients.

But enemy raiders interfere also with mail coming to Canada. On October 18th a steamer left England carrying mail from Canadian soldiers, sailors and airmen oversea. A few days later the ship was attacked by a raider and had to return to a British port for repairs. These completed, it resumed the interrupted voyage, reaching St. John on Nov. 28th. That will explain to a great number of people in Canada why letters failed to reach them until six weeks after being mailed in England.

If the Post Office department is doing a big business in these hectic days, it is also having troubles of its own; troubles which the officials cannot avoid and cannot hope to avoid in future. The understanding public should recognize these difficulties, be particular to address all oversea mail matter exactly as instructed, and exercise patience when mail in either direction is late in arriving—or fails to arrive at all.

Londoners, according to a despatch, lined up in a queue a mile long for the privilege of paying eight cents apiece for eggs. The English hen, it is to be gathered, is a bit flustered by the attentions of the war-birds.

Soldiers in training for active service are to get six days Christmas leave each. Where a soldier is located far from home he may be allowed extra time. Those who have not used up all their regular leave may have the surplus days added to the Christmas "holiday." All this on condition that not more than 50 per cent of the strength of any unit shall be absent at once. The arrangement seems as fair as practicable without dislocating the training set-up and leaving the camps deserted for a time.

Elaborate preparations have been made for extending a welcome this afternoon to the newly appointed Archbishop of Edmonton, Rev. Henry J. O'Leary, on his arrival from the east.

Washington: The house immigration committee reported favorably on the Johnson bill, which would stop immigration into the United States for a period of two years.

1930—10 Years Ago

Berlin: Fascists made a noisy demonstration when "All Quiet on the Western Front" was shown in a Berlin theatre. Theatre lights had to be turned off, the public emptied the house and later performances were suspended. The show was resumed today under heavy police guard.

Ottawa: The government and the two railway systems have appropriated $58,000,000 for unemployment relief work.

Brussels: Slowly as it came, the poisoned fog which has taken more than three score lives in the valley of the Meuse, has started to clear away.

Sir Robert Borden suggests world conditions would be less distressing if the nations had ten years ago agreed to cancel war debts and cut down reparations claims against Germany.

from the news

Benito Mussolini suffered a blow yesterday that may eventually react to the benefit of the Italian people and save them ultimately from Hitler's clutch.

Apparently of his own volition and as a protest against Italy's international position, Marshal Pietro Badoglio resigned as Italian chief of staff.

This morning the further resignation is announced of Count Cesare Maria de Vecchi di Val Cismon, commander of the Dodecanese Islands, and one of the original "big four" of fascism.

Marshal Badoglio is Italy's greatest living soldier.

When the Italian campaign in Ethiopia came to a muddy stalemate under the aged Marshal de Bono, Badoglio was sent in to save the day. He managed to reorganize the army and achieve Mussolini's objectives.

Marshal Badoglio is extremely popular with the Italian people.

When Mussolini came to power in 1922, he acknowledged this dangerous popularity by sending Badoglio to Brazil on a mission almost as honorable as it was remote.

Marshal Badoglio is anti-fascist.

When Mussolini made his famous "march on Rome"—in which he himself did not participate, by the way—it was Badoglio who tried to persuade King Victor Emmanuel to let him disperse the fascist mob. He wanted only a regiment to settle Mussolini's hash for all time. The King, fearful of communism, would not consent and so put himself into the power of the budding Duce.

Badoglio did not join the fascist party until after the Ethiopian campaign when, having been showered with honors and made Duke of Addis Ababa, he felt it would be churlish to refuse, particularly as his Sovereign requested him to make his peace with Mussolini in order to avoid dissension within the state.

Add all these facts together and you have an extremely able man, beloved of the Italian people, antagonistic towards the fantastic pretenses of the fascist regime, resentful of the indignities that have been heaped on the House of Savoy—and now openly at odds with Signor Benito Mussolini over fascist policy.

From Mussolini's standpoint, that makes a dangerous combination with the large number of Italians who have been ashamed of playing jackal to Hitler, who have been impatient of Mussolini's military bungling, who have been irritated by the constantly decreasing standard of living—but who hitherto have been impotent in their protestations because they lacked a powerful, unifying leader.

With the disgusted defection of Badoglio, that leadership is now available, that is if Badoglio and the Italian malcontents, like Barkis, are willin'.

Perhaps Vittorio Emmanuele himself would not be sorry to climb out of the silken jail and ridiculous empire that Mussolini has created for him.

There is a not too distinct sign of some vague Italo-British development in the recently concluded trade and financial pact with Spain.

Why should Britain care particularly about the hunger of a country that has been flirting with Hitler and whose supplies are subject to seizure by Hitler?

Spain, it should be remembered, is geographically a natural avenue of supply for Italy. Cargo vessels could move easily across the upper tip of the Mediterranean—if Britain so willed.

It may be a far-fetched guess, but still worthy of consideration, that precious few British goods will move into Spain until the time is ripe to dangle those British foodstuffs under the noses of starving Italians something after the same manner in which the fruit was hung before the eyes of Tantalus in hell.

Hitler's bad luck in Rumania continues to be a source of amusement and jubilation for British observers.

Hardly had the German legions established themselves comfortably in that country when a series of earthquakes rocked the kingdom and put out of operation a majority of the oil wells that Hitler had set out to control.

To pacify resentful factions in Rumania, Hitler is said to have promised some of the patriots that he would recover from Bulgaria that part of Dobruja that was awarded to the latter country at the time of King Carol's abdication.

But Bulgaria is no longer the tractable and obedient state she was at the time this promise was made.

Vigorous Turkish threats caused Tsar Boris to move warily in his Axis relations. Now, Turkish praise is leading him to hope for Turkish support in any defiance he may offer to the Axis.

Russia has also whispered in his ear.

It looks now as though any attempt to keep the promise about Dobruja might result in war with Bulgaria, might draw Turkey into the conflict and deeply offend Russia.

If Hitler fails to keep his promise, the present state of Rumanian tempers could easily give him serious trouble within Rumania itself.

The Fuehrer is also embarrassed by the violent antagonism that has now grown up between the Rumanian army and the Iron Guard. Even the Guard itself is split into two factions—one devoted to violence and another intent on keeping the peace.

The quarrel within the ranks of this Nazi organization must be disturbing to Hitler because it shows him that even his own closely-knit German party is not immune to similar internal disorders.

It must remind him, with a feeling of uneasiness not altogether pleasant, of the growing feud between Himmler's gestapo and Keitler's regular troops.

Hitler, too, may be trying to reassure himself with that most futile and absurd of phrases:

It can't happen here.

By B. T. Richardson

Realization that part of Canada's destiny, born of the present war, will be a new role in the British Commonwealth and in world affairs as a great shipping nation, is evident in the current trend to create a large Canadian shipbuilding industry.

The immediate reason for this is plain enough. It is simply that the British shipbuilding industry lies under the threat of air attack and Britain must draw the sinews of marine power from the Dominions or from friendly neutrals like the United States. But there is growing conviction both in Canada and in Britain that Canada is the logical place for development of a new shipbuilding industry where ships of the navy and of merchant marine will be built. The role that Canada is assuming in war-time will not be surrendered when peace comes again.

New Shipyards Required

Both Hon. Angus Macdonald, naval minister, and Hon. C. D. Howe, munitions and supply minister, reported rapid advance in the war-time program when they spoke in the House of Commons on the war effort recently. For the most part, it is known, the ship-building capacity of Canada is fully engaged with present contracts, and for future development new shipyards will be required.

One fact overlooked was that Mr. Macdonald significantly told parliament that Canada has already asked for skilled men from British shipyards. "We shall require the assistance," he said, "of skilled men from Admiralty dockyards and from private yards in Britain, and we have asked for that assistance." In this statement is seen the first official intimation that British skill and methods are coming to Canada to offset losses incurred by bombing-out of British shipyards.

Must Have More Ships

On the same line, Hon. Ronald Cross, British minister of shipping, said in London: "I am not going to hide the fact that the rate at which we are building ships does not make up for our losses. . . . We must have ships. We cannot make too sure of our shipping in the months and years that may elapse before victory is assured. We must have a safety margin." The emphasis of meaning in these last sentences was left to Prime Minister King, speaking in the Canadian Parliament on December 2nd. The "safety margin," it is indicated, lies immediately in the shipyards of Canada and the United States and ultimately in an established shipbuilding industry in Canada on a scale adequate for both Britain and Canada.

Canada's war-time shipbuilding program is already reaching impressive proportions, with more to come. For delivery in 1940 and 1941, contracts have been let for 54 corvettes for Canada, 10 corvettes for Britain, 28 minesweepers for Canada, 10 minesweepers for Britain, and more than 350 small craft. Already 181 small craft have been delivered, and some larger ships as well.

Many Cargo Steamers

In addition, contracts have been let for 18 cargo steamers, with the likelihood that every available resource will continue in shipbuilding for the duration. "An additional program of corvettes and minesweepers is under consideration," Mr. Howe said on November 20.

The record shows that 27 types of small craft are under construction in Canada.

Canada has only begun to build ships. Destroyers and cruisers are next on the list, as Mr. Macdonald disclosed in Parliament. Beyond that there may be even bigger types of warships. And the 9,000-ton cargo vessels soon to be in berths on the Pacific coast and on the St. Lawrence river, may be the forerunners of a vast peace-time fleet of Canadian merchantmen, carrying the commerce of the British Empire on all the seas.

Sirois and Democracy

Editor, Bulletin: Until 1931, Canadians had not the right to claim for themselves a democracy, and since that time they have done nothing but talk about it, apparently without knowing just what democracy is. Even Bourinot, the accepted authority on matters constitutional, erred and so contributed to the general misconceptions in regard to Canada's true political status.

According to Webster's dictionary: "democracy is the political system in which government is directly exercised and controlled by the people."

Therefore, a democratic government is one which is designed, established and derives its authority directly from the people. Canada is not, and never can be a democracy under the British North America Act. Canada is a peculiar confederation of colonial dependencies; and since 1931, remains in that status because our politicians have neglected to carry out the intentions of the Statute of Westminster. The unique and peculiar character of Canada's confederation was attested by Lord Carnarvon, the author of the B.N.A. Act, and is sponsor in the British parliament. In explaining the bill in the House of Lords, Feb. 19th, 1867, he said:

"It is true that it is a compromise, so far as it (B.N.A. Bill) is founded on the consent of the provinces; it is true that it has been rendered possible by the surrender of certain powers, rights and pretentions into the hands of the central authority; but it is also to be remembered—unlike every other confederation that has existed—it derives its political existance from an external source."

When, on behalf of the people, the constituted authorities of the provinces accepted the gift of sovereignty, proffered to them in the Statute of Westminster, and not until then, can Canada become a democracy. But there is some secret influence which has prevented this for nine years, in witness whereof, the Rt. Hon. Ernest Lapointe, minister of justice, said in the House of Commons, March 10th, 1939:

"The Statute of Westminster is a great step, but it is not as final for Canada as it has been for most of the other dominions, because of certain things which prevented complete nationhood, in spite of the fact that those obstacles are of our own will, are there because we want them to be there."

Therefore, in spite of what Prime Minister King has said to the contrary, Canada is not a full nation, and cannot be sovereign until the provinces accept sovereignty. The hidden purpose of the Sirois recommendations may be to perpetuate the bureaucratic government in Canada and to prevent the establishment of a democratic regime under the sovereign authority of the people of Canada.

Wants The Truth

Editor, Bulletin: In The Bulletin of Nov. 28 I read a letter in What is Your Opinion. If what Harry Jones says in his letter is true, it is time that some person took up that letter to get at the truth.

I can hardly credit that German officers are being given $20.00 to get luxuries for themselves. I would like to hear what your paper thinks of that letter.

I may state here that all those people around Innisfail, Knee Hill Valley and others are doing everything they can to help win this war, giving of their time and money every dollar that can be spared, and a letter like that of Harry Jones is not good to read. All we women can do is get boiling hot at that letter. Since I am a subscriber to your paper and like it, some of the folks around here wanted me to ask your paper for the truth of that letter. This is not a good time for that kind of a joke, if it is a joke.

We will all be watching the papers for what you think and will appreciate the truth from you.

MRS. DAVID WOOD.

Knee Hill Valley, Alta.

Editor's note: Unfortunately, this is no joke. The international convention under which war is supposed to be waged direct that prisoners of war shall be paid by their captors at the rate of pay prevailing in the army of their native country. Theoretically, Canadian prisoners in Germany are so paid. Perhaps they get it.

On Death

The mother of a friend of mine died the other day. My friend's little daughter was sent away to relatives until the funeral was over. Little Mary, aged eleven, must not know about her grandmother's death. Grandma, it was explained to her, had gone away on a trip. The memory of grandmother would slowly recede into the distance. At some future date, Mary may learn of grandma's passing. But meanwhile she must be spared a knowledge that might upset her.

Is this not characteristic of our society? Are we not producing a people unable to face the most ruthless fact of life, namely, the certainty of death?

We treat death as though it were an outlaw, an aberration, a disease. More and more we cremate our dead and lay their ashes away in urns, on shelves. We abolish mourning. By one means or another we create our peculiar illusion: the illusion of mortal immortality. Age approaches, but the beautician, the masseur, the tailor and the dressmaker, the bland specialist and the golf course co-operate to keep alive the illusion. We are not really growing older. "Life begins at forty!"

Either one believes in the immortality of the soul, or one does not. Either faith or clear skepticism would, one thinks, induce a different attitude toward life and death from the current one. For if we are immortal, if the soul and spirit never die, why care so much for this mortal coil? The Christian does not fear death. He fears that he dies "in sin." Important to him, therefore, is how he lives his life, not how much he prolongs it.

Skepticism induces stoicism, not illusion. If there is no other life than this one, then how intensely must we live? Really to live means that one does not mortgage the living present for a senile future. And what is a "lifetime"? Keats died at twenty-six. Did he live a lifetime? That was 120 years ago, and in Rome his epitaph reads, "Here lies one whose name was writ in water." But it was not. The nightingale he heard still sings, and the thing of beauty that he saw is still a joy forever.

Shelley died at twenty-nine, Byron laid down his life for a lost cause at Missolonghi, at the age of thirty-six. Did they live their lifetimes? Shakespeare died at fifty-two. Did he live his lifetime? Jesus died at thirty-three. Did He live His lifetime?

The secret weapon of the revolutionary ideologies of these times, thier weapon against the "decadent" democracies, is perhaps this: that they have brought up their youth in the clear realization that they will not live forever. They have substituted a secular religion for the Christian faith and been able to do so only because the religious faith had become dimmed. There is no personal immortality in the Nazi credo, but the life of the nation, of the race, of the breed, is eternal, and the individual is only a link in an endless chain. Or, in the Russian credo, the upward surge of the working masses goes on, and one lives and dies for a cause that will surely triumph. Thus they induce a contempt for death. And as long as faith in the cause is strong, their people die well. Ernest Hemingway in his play "The Fifth Column" says this, too. "Priests die well. They die best. Not bishops, just priests." Of course, because they live in God.

But in the pleasure economy and the pleasure world that our democracy has become we live apparently in nothing. For no God, for no vision of the future, in no piety toward the past, for no pride of race or personality, for no passion of indignation or of love. Once we lived for freedom, pledging our "lives, our fortunes and our sacred honor." The very words sound high flown. Passion, which means originally suffering and the experience of the soul, is degraded to the description of sexual pleasure.

To be spared suffering of any kind, physical, emotional or mental, becomes the object of life. Therewith, however, the very sense of life vanishes, and "gone is all the mystery of wonder and surprise." We seek security; a seven-hour working day, a car, vitamins, a pension. All right, why not, but why does life elude us and vitamins fail to produce commensurate vitality? We escape pain and also all sharp joy. Never having been hungry, we do not know the keen deliciousness of bread; never having been cold, we take no voluptuous comfort in a fire. Unwilling to die for a cause, we die for an extra drink and a careless attempt to pass another car on the road.

One is born with five senses—with eyes to see the wonder, beauty, tragedy and terror of this world. Unwilling to contemplate the whole of life, we miss the beauty, too. Who really looks at the sky? We have tongues to taste with, but we dull them with factory-made food, hastily gulped. We can smell, touch and hear. Thoreau thought that the possession of these gifts, plus a mind that can think, was almost enough for any man. Yet the degeneration of the senses is characteristic of the times. Why? Is it not perhaps because of an unconscious desire to avoid all acute experience, since so much of it is painful?

Why love? A consuming passion of the heart tears one to bits. It is not reasonable. "There are as good fish in the sea as ever were caught." Why be too enamoured of that face, that voice, those hands? Comfort is the ideal—physical comfort, emotional comfort, mental comfort. We can stand seeing Hamlet on the stage, at full length, if Hamlet is made into a glamour boy and a wisecracker. But Othello, or Richard III, or King Lear, or Oedipus Rex or Electra? Old-fashioned ever- statement. Morbid! All is morbid that is not flat, undifferentiated, and all is morbid that reminds us of the inescapable tragic fact that we die. The happy ending is the illusion that there is no ending, and we translate this in social terms into the concept of infinite progress divorced from will and from effort.

So it is with the idea of peace. Peace is not a condition of harmonious relations between men, created by truth, maintained by law, supported by effort. Peace is the absence of war. War may rage over the whole world, out of causes to which we all have contributed. But if we sleep in a bed and not in a shelter, that is enough for us.

Peace does not mean that we live without fear. On the contrary. We are more afraid than the British under bombs. For what we fear is not war but reality.

Reality is beautiful and terrible, tragic and comic. It embraces the whole of life. It is the gamut. Reality is adult. But we try also to avoid adulthood. We prolong youth indefinitely, and keep our children away from work until they are twenty-one or twenty-two. Then work is translated into a job, and is done, not for the hard joy of creation through self-discipline and work-discipline—the discipline that creates the free personality. It is done for its derivatives; for a flat, a car, the "movies," ice cream. We do in order to buy, and find our highest expression as consumers.

Without the consciousness of death, without the serene acceptance of death as the inexorable certainty, we lose all sense of the magic and wonder of life. There is no more reality—and no more romance. For romance is the sublimation of reality.

Since we are unwilling to come to terms with the fact of death, we live in constant unconscious fear. For only when one is no longer afraid to die, is one no longer afraid at all. And only when we are no longer afraid, do we begin to live—to live in every experience, painful or joyous to live in gratitude for every moment; to live abundantly, and with the constant extension of one's physical, mental, and spiritual means. To be free means simply to be unafraid, and to be unafraid in the fullest and most inclusive awareness must encompass the recognition of Death.

Without that recognition, men choose the safety of the mediocre herd—to be destroyed by other herds whose herd instinct has been trained to accept death. The fear of life and the fear of death are completely integrated. Those who know nothing they are willing to die for live without purpose, without direction, and without joy. Their bodies are hastily removed, and their lives as hastily forgotten.

The Gospel According to St. Matthew—Chapter 15

Then came to Jesus scribes and Pharisees, which were of Jerusalem, saying,

Why do thy disciples transgress the tradition of the elders? for they wash not their hands when they eat bread.

But he answered and said unto them, Why do ye also transgress the commandment of God by your tradition?

For God commanded, saying, Honour thy father and mother: and, He that curseth father or mother, let him die the death.

But ye say, Whosoever shall say to his father or his mother, It is a gift, by whatsoever thou mightest be profited by me;

And honour not his father or his mother, he shall be free. Thus have ye made the commandment of God of none effect by your tradition.

Ye hypocrites! well did Esaias prophesy of you, saying,

This people draweth nigh unto me with their mouth, and honoureth me with their lips but their heart is far from me.

But in vain they do worship me, teaching for doctrines, the commandments of men.

And he called the multitude, and said unto them, Hear, and understand:

Not that which goeth into the mouth defileth a man; but that which cometh out of the mouth, this defileth a man.

Then came his disciples, and said unto him, Knowest thou that the Pharisees were offended, after they heard this saying?

From The Belfast Telegraph

Generally speaking, the principle for which we are fighting is the right of the people of every country to decide their own destinies, without being forced to obey the orders of an autocrat who is prepared to crush opposition with massed artillery, tanks, and bombing airplanes.

The experiences of Europe in 1919 and subsequently, however have shown the great difficulties attached to the re-drawing of national boundaries in a way fair to all concerned.

This requires careful deliberation in an atmosphere free from the influence of racial hatreds and war terrors.

Premature pronouncements at the present stage would create difficulties likely to hamper those who may be responsible for arriving at a just and permanent settlement of international problems.

It can only be said that in addition to the defence of our shores the liberation of Western and Central Europe from the tyranny of the Axis is the immediate object of our war efforts.

Major And Minor Notes

By John Oliver

JOHN OLIVER

IN THE almost immediate future Christmas carols will hold full sway. Christmas is "just around the corner" and already the carols are heard over the airways. Special pre-Christmas events at churches from now on will feature these ageless contributions to musical literature, while at family and group gatherings they will be sung with great enthusiasm until after the great celebrations attendant upon the yuletide season have ceased. Carols never lose their appeal. Many, being songs of the people, have come down through the ages, as have folk songs. Others have been specially composed as Christmas numbers, or have been adapted from some favorite theme of a master-work. Carol singing never loses its appeal and the old favorites are welcomed year after year, with as great enthusiasm as the flowers of spring.

While complete reports of the business side of the Edmonton Civic Opera Society's production of Carmen at the Empire theatre on Nov. 21-23 are not yet available, officials of the organization state that proceeds will insure attainment of its objective, namely donation by the society of an ambulance, to be used in Canada's war effort. That this objective has been attained is a matter of great satisfaction to the Society as a whole. Crowded houses marked the four performances of the Bizet masterpiece, which brought new laurels to the brow of Mrs. J. B. Carmichael, the general musical director of the Society, as well as to the company as a whole.

THE Civic Opera Society is now marking time until after the Christmas season, when work will commence on the spring production, a light opera yet to be selected. Several works are under consideration, with opinion inclining to Chu Chin Chow, which established an all-time long-run record in London, during and after the Great War of 1914-1918. It ran for more than 2,000 consecutive performances at His Majesty's theatre.

There are some difficulties in the way of producing this work, such as costuming and it may be necessary to finally select some other opus. In the meantime, Mrs. Carmichael and her faithful executive are directing attention to the subject at hand.

MRS. DOROTHY BLACKWELL GARDNER, formerly of this city and now of New York, who came up specially to sing the title role in Carmen, left Thursday night for her home. Arriving here Oct. 8 she visited her parents and took part in Carmen. She renewed many old friendships and carried back to New York, good wishes for continuation of her artistic endeavors.

Under the baton of Sergeant Major Edward Kirkwood, the regimental band of the 2nd Battalion, Edmonton Regiment is improving by leaps and bounds. The band now has a strength of about 40 and included in the membership are several instrumentalists who are proving a valuable addition to the city's musical forces. Sergeant Major Kirkwood, in the year he has been at the head of the band, has carried on the splendid work, first established by the original 49th Bn. bandmaster, the late J. B. Daly and continued for several years by Frank G. Aldridge.

THE 49th Bn. band, under Mr. Daly, was one of the finest in the Canadian Corps during the Great War and Mr. Aldridge carried on splendidly until ill-health forced him to lay down his baton a little more than a year ago. Many of the bandsmen have played with the organization ever since the Great War and to their credit, all volunteered for service with the Edmonton Regiment when it was mobilized as part of the 2nd Brigade, 1st Division, C.A.S.F., on outbreak of war. Most, however, were over-age and an entirely new band was recruited for the new overseas unit. Under Bandmaster Stan Sheddon, the band was sent overseas with a brand new set of instruments donated by residents of this city.

Active preparation has been commenced by the Empire Opera Company on Johann Strauss's musical comedy, The Bat, which will be presented at the Empire Theatre in the spring. The Bat, or as it is known in the country whence it came, Die Fledermaus, was first produced in Vienna in July of 1874. Johann Strauss fitted his entrancing score to a book by Haffner and Richard Genee, which had been adapted from a French story, Le Revillon by Meilhac and Halevy, the prolific librettists who provided many libretti for leading French composers. Tryouts were held last Monday night and intensive rehearsal is planned for the near future.

THE BAT has been produced in London, New York and elsewhere, but it has never gained the popularity in these centres that it has enjoyed in Central Europe ever since it was written. In Germany, it is one of the standard light operas and is played hundreds of times every year in opera houses and theatres.

Music of The Bat is a gay mixture of waltzes, polkas and other dance music, interspersed with light, but pleasant songs. In Act I there is a serenade, Dove that has Escaped; a trio Well, With Such an Attorney; a duet Come With Me to the Ball and a lively drinking song, In Tete-a-Tete With Me So Late.

IN ACT II there are several intriguing numbers, including I Love to Invite My Friends; My Dear Marquis; Sounds from Home, another drinking song, In the Fire-Stream of the Grape and a waltz finale, Ha, What Joy. In Act III there is the song I am an Innocent from the Country; a trio, A Strange Adventure and the Finale, Oh, Bat, Oh Bat, Let Thy Victim Escape. The waltzes from The Bat have proved to be among Strauss's most popular.

Herbert G. Turner, secretary of the Alberta music festival committee, announced Saturday that the complete syllabus for the 1941 provincial festival, which will be held here, is now ready. It can be obtained from music stores, or from Mr. Turner. In view of the difficulties surrounding obtaining music in wartime, it is suggested that intending competitors order their music as early as possible.

ANNOUNCEMENT also was made that three additional scholarships, each of $50 have been awarded for the coming festival. One has been donated by the Sunwapta Broadcasting Company, operating Station CFRN. This will be available for additional vocal tuition. It is open for competition to candidates resident north of and including Red Deer. It will be awarded to the competitor receiving the highest marks in any vocal solo class. Candidates must be under 22 years. A second scholarship, donated by Station CJCA carries all the same qualification and applies to the same territory, but goes to the candidate winning highest marks in any instrumental solo class. The third scholarship, donated by the Women's Musical Club is for an Edmonton candidate obtaining highest marks in prepared work in vocal, piano or violin classes, the candidate to be more than 12 and under 19 years.

High Tradition

SGT.-MAJOR EDWARD KIRKWOOD, bandmaster of the 2nd Bn., Edmonton Regiment, who is carrying on the high tradition established by the 49th Bn. band in the Great War of 1914-1918. His band now numbers about 40.

Two Solos

CORONATION

Several threshing machines are working as farmers' endeavor to finish some of the jobs remaining early in November.

Local Red Cross funds were boosted recently when half the net proceeds of a dance were turned over to officials of the club.

Mr. and Mrs. Art Heidecker entertained 17 guests at dinner Thursday on the occasion of their first wedding anniversary.

Skunk "Fishing" Produces Extra Money For Farmer

NOBLEFORD, Dec. 7.—(CP)—Farmers in this southeastern Alberta district found a novel way to make spare money for Christmas this year by "fishing" under an old barn floor for skunks. They captured 18 animals and the pelts are worth about $1.50 apiece.

The skunks' den under the old barn was about 10 feet deep. A fishing tool of twisted barbed wire was fashioned and used to get a firm hold on the furry animals. As each was brought out of the pit it was shot.

AID FOR REFUGEES

It has been announced by C.N.R. officials that Edmonton employees have raised the sum of $892.71, which sum has been turned over to the dominion finance minister with the suggestion that the money be used in meeting the immediate necessities of refugees from Europe. A letter of thanks was received by the company from Hon. J. L. Ilsley. Among the causes to which donations have been sent are the Red Cross, the Spitfire fund, Salvation Army, Y.M.C.A. and others.

Mrs. C. Stuart of Calgary was a city visitor for a few days.

Mrs. Gilette, wife of Leading Hand Gilette of the Calder shops, was a recent visitor in Vancouver and has now returned to her home in the city.

CITY VISITORS

C.P.R. News Items

L. A. Raymond, superintendent of the C.P.R. communications department, Calgary, was a business visitor in Edmonton during the past week.

The Edmonton branch of the C.P.R. adult education study group, train rules class, will hold its next meeting in the club rooms over South Edmonton station on Tuesday, December 10, at 8 p.m. S. R. Lamb, assistant superintendent, Edmonton division, and R. J. Collins, chief dispatcher, will be in charge of the meeting and a large turnout is expected.

George Cudoba, pensioned C.P.R. engineer, who retired from the company's ranks on March 31 last, passed away in Red Deer last Sunday. Mr. Cudoba, who accumulated almost 40 years of service before retiring last March, was well known throughout Alberta and his many friends in this territory will regret to learn of his passing so quickly following his retirement. Mr. Cudoba entered the C.P.R. service in 1902 and worked on the Alberta district from that time until his honorable discharge from active service. The deepest sympathy of all Edmonton division railway officers and employees is extended to the surviving members of his family in Red Deer.

Best wishes for a speedy recovery are extended to Thomas Mawhinney of the C.P.R. local freight agent's Edmonton staff, who has been seriously ill.

J. Rosko, relieving agent, C.P.R., Edmonton division, who has just completed annual vacation, has gone to work on the Medicine Hat division, and John D. Dorin, who has also been absent on annual holidays, is now working on the Lethbridge division.

• • •

The Show Gets Underway Tonight!

A talented group of musicians, all set to present one of the best concerts in their history, is the Edmonton Schoolboys' Band who, under the direction of Bandmaster T. V. Newlove, will provide Edmonton lovers of martial music with plenty of it, in the Empire theatre this evening at 8:15. Included in the program, as well as the martial airs known and loved by young and old alike, are selections from "William Tell," solos and many of the old and present-day war songs. Not to forget the feminine side of the lineup, the "Majorettes" will be in attendance to provide several novelty twirling numbers. Members of the Doris Jordan School of Dancing will also add to the program. Proceeds will finance the band's activities for the next six months or so.

Among The Clubs

When results were finally posted following elections of the Bissell Recreation Club Irene Nakamura was named vice-president of the group, with Ray Saito, treasurer. It was decided at a recent meeting to pack a Christmas hamper for some needy Edmonton family, and a party may be held at a later date.

Students of Garneau school returned to their studies Friday morning with more thoughts of Thursday's skating party than for work. The party started early in the evening and continued until 9:30 when refreshments and games were enjoyed in the school. However, things weren't quite so bad when the school paper "Garneau Glimpses" was distributed. This was the first issue and received much favorable comment. Hockey is also receiving much attention at school. The boys have arranged three senior clubs and four junior, under the direction of Mr. Botsford.

The annual public-speaking contest of the A. Y. P. A. will be held Monday, December 9, it was announced this week. Six contestants will speak on various topics, meeting in All Saints parish hall. Public speaking eliminations have been held regularly at the various branches. Holy Trinity A. Y. P. A. commenced work on a play to be entered in the Dramatic festival and Christmas hamper at a recent meet- St. Mary's group started on their ing.

ROBERT "BOB" TORRANCE, premier of the twenty-first annual Tuxis Boys' Parliament to be held in Calgary starting December 27, who is looking to a big session dealing with leadership training.

Representatives Named For Tuxis Parliament

Five representatives were appointed by acclamation to represent Edmonton-in-general at the annual Tuxis Boys' Parliament, to be held in Calgary December 27, it was announced Friday by Graham Dale, deputy returning officer.

Mr. Dale said that each of the five represents one of the Edmonton churches, and were appointed as follows: Wesley United, Robert "Bob" Weyman, nominated by Clarence Hardie, V. Marshall, Bill Buchanan and Don Murray; Erskine United, Robert Wilson, nominated by E. A. Saville, Tommy Russell, A. R. Moore and A. C. Blackwood; Knox United, Thomas Buchanan, nominated by Bob MacDonald, Don McCombie, Ken Edwards and Reggie Wilks; Metropolitan United, Ross McBain, nominated by Wesley Graves, Robert Parks, Bob Cosgrave and Jack Cook; Central United, Gordon E. Brown, nominated by John Christian, John Gray, Victor Cox and Jimmy Gee.

One other representative was appointed from the Alberta College in the person of Owen Hooper, Rawley, Alta.

Robert "Bob" Torrance will take his seat in the parliament as premier, with Stuart Purvis, Edmonton, leader of the opposition. The probable theme will be "Carry on," with emphasis being laid on leadership training. William G. Gill will hold seat as speaker.

WILLIAM G. GILL, Speaker of the Tuxis Parliament, who will direct discussions during sessions in the Calgary City hall.

Novice League Will Benefit "Semi-Experts"

By LEON KAGNA

When the hockey season rolled around this term, the opinion was voiced that not enough of the students were able to participate in the winter game. To remedy the situation, Ken Johnson, chairman of the sports committee, with the aid of Mr. Eby, hockey coach, formed a "novice league", captained by reasonably good players and taking in those who are just learning the game. Through the medium of leagues, more than 135 boys are now taking part in the sport.

Evangelist Rev. Burnett was guest speaker at the I.S.C.F. meeting Tuesday, Rev. J. B. Carlson will be speaker at the next meeting.

At a meeting of the new Home Economics club, members commenced work on clothing for the Red Cross. This work will play a large part in future programs. It was announced by the Students' Union this week that the skating party will be held Friday, December 13 at the Alberta Avenue rink.

VICTORIA

House Leagues Top Activities Around Campus

By Ken Torrance

There is much ado along the sporting lanes at Vic these days, including both boys' and girls' hockey, basketball and ping-pong.

In the first game of the boys' hockey house league schedule, John Christian's Giants defeated Jack Ingram's Bone-Busters in a hard-fought engagement by a score of 3-2. The next game will be played Monday with the Giants meeting Fred Guest's team at Norwood Rink. While most boys are handling the old hickory there are still those who prefer basketball. In the boys' house league, the Dynamiters seem to have things tucked away; as yet they have not been defeated.

Ping-pong enthusiasts are getting their fill these days as they have the privilege of playing at school. The tables, bats and nets were supplied by the Students Union, are under the care of Ansel Mark, Gordon Mitchell, Betty Boon and Marjorie Prest. There is some talk of forming a club although nothing definite has been done as yet. Tournaments will be held after the New Year and a team is to be sent to inter-chool contests.

Neville Lindsay, an ardent member of Public Speaking Club, delivered an enlightening speech on "Radio and Democracy" Monday. The next meeting, Monday, will take the form of a debate between the teams of Bill Lindsay and Jerry McCarthy, Dorothy Coggles and Francis Latter, on the subject, "Resolved education for democracy has failed."

WESTGLEN

Students Hold First Tourney In New School

By Mary Travers

The walls of the new Westglen gymnasium resounded to the noises of a basketball game for the first time this week when a host of "rookies" turned out for a practice tilt. The material looks good and expectations are high for more sports laurels.

At the meeting of the Students' Union Tuesday a skating party was planned for December 20 at the Westmount community rink. Refreshments and dancing will follow.

A "Drama Night" was presented by Miss Manser's dramatic classes Friday evening, with two plays making up the program, as follows: "The Twilight Saint" and "The Widdy's Mite," performed by a well trained cast of characters.

High School Hop Will Be Staged Friday At 8:30

By Leo Ornest

Commercial's first dance of the year will take place Friday in Westglen auditorium at 8:30 p.m. Evan Wolfe's orchestra will be in attendance.

At a Students' Union meeting Wednesday it was decided to have a theatre party on Dec. 23, the last day of school for this year. The Union also announced a drama "Lit" on December 20. Miss Zella Oliver is in charge.

The school Christmas cards made their appearance Friday and were acclaimed by everyone. The cards bear the Commercial colors of black and gold. At the weekly Booster Club meeting Monday, Winnie Slessor was elected representative, with Jean Chandler, to the girls' hockey team.

Coach Clare Hollingsworth has formed a girls' basketball house league. Captains will be chosen on Monday and the league is scheduled to get under way by Wednesday noon.

EASTWOOD

Weather Ideal For Eastwood Skating Party

By Jean McBride

Weather and ice were in perfect form for the skating party Friday last, when a air attendance greeted the efforts of the organizers.

The theme of the "Sing Sing Shuffle" was well carried out in the decorations of the Alumnae dance. Dancers circled a room made up to resemble a prison. Proceeds went to the building up of a fund for the alumnae scholarship, to be awarded to the best all-round Grade 12 student of the year.

Students Are Important!

A Guest Editorial

By KAY W. BIGLAND

HIGH school students are important, and what we think of the war is also important! We are standing on the very brink of the maelstrom of life, and although most of us have had a fairly easy time of it so far, it won't be long before we are in the thick of things. The war has already affected our lives, and as we grow older it will affect us even more; those of us who will have to work for a living will have to be introduced to the world's work at a time when the war is having its effect on the business world.

All across Canada youth is rallying to the call of its country. Youths are joining the Army, the Air Force and the Navy; all of us have responded to drives created to raise money for war purposes. We are ready to do greater things, more valiant things. We sing patriotic songs with a new fervour, and our hearts swell with pride whenever we hear the name of our King and country. We love "There'll Always Be An England," and "Carry On," because they express our sentiments exactly.

We young Canadians are not drunk with a dream of heroism—of martial music and brilliant uniforms. We know there is nothing valiant or beautiful in war, only in the victory of a just cause. The majority of us are clear thinking individuals, willing to accept war and all the trouble over in Europe as a "bloody mess" that must be remedied. We realize with understanding the sufferings of our fellow-humans "over there", and we are willing to give our lives, and more, even the lives of those nearest and dearest to us, that following generations may live in peace, with democracy and all its blessings as their supreme right.

We are strong and able, for we have been reared in a country that is clean and young, and there has been no bitter tyranny to mar the health of our minds or the strength of our bodies. In gratitude for the country we have the privilege to live in, and to preserve it in all its beauty for those people who will live here after us, we must get out and do things to quelch the common enemy.

Surely, when we are willing and able, and sure of our cause, we will in the end be victorious. It may be a long war, and our trials will be great, but good always is supreme, and so our cause must be victorious in the end!

Eastwood received the news of Flt. Lieut. Howard Blatchford's receiving the Distinguished Flying Cross this week, with a great deal of pride. Mr. Blatchford attended Eastwood in the years 1928-31.

Lit Arranged For Students On South Side

By Kay Banham

As the dark period of examinations rolls around, there is still one bright spot left on the horizon. An "extra-special" Lit. has been arranged by the literary convener, and will take place on December 23. Admittance is gained by exhibiting to the doorman, one Students' Privilege card.

Examinations have been proceeding well on the south side, and all are looking forward to the Christmas break, with ten whole days of skiing, skating and sleighing. And after this, we return to school to prepare for the Easter exams. What a life!

School-Books In Limelight As Exams Loom Up

By H. O. W. Cashman

With Christmas rapidly drawing near, only ten school days left until the end of the term and exams coming up text books are getting a lot of belated attention around the campus.

The school sweater committee reported that plans for the sweaters have been marked out. These garments will be in the school colors of blue and white, and in two different designs. They will make ther appearance at the first of the New Year.

Special care should be taken in the lighting of rooms in which children read and play, because childhood is considered the dangerous age for the eyes. Serious defects of vision may result from inadequate or spotty lighting.

Gra-Y Groups Active At "Y" In First Aid

A practical course in first aid to the injured marks the current program of the Y.M.C.A. Gra-Y clubs, Eric Smith, chairman, said this week. The course includes such features as elementary procedure in bandaging and splints, knots, simple fractures, head and hand wounds, treatment of shock, nose bleeds, frost-bite, scalds and burns.

Activities in this club are all boy-governed and boy-centered, with an older counsellor to guide them. Apart from the first aid work, the boys do marathon racing, hockey and basketball.

Interclub rivalry in these latter sports is very keen, it was said. In a recent tilt, the Gra-Y Dog-Patchers under Ted Allen, Bill Howson and Bill Stuart, challenged the Y-Amis to a game of indoor hockey. Unfortunately the Dog-Patchers fell to defeat.

KNOX HIGH POWERS

Bob Torrance of the Central United group is bringing a number of his members over to initiate the High Powers group. This group has sold 30 boxes of cards so far.

EASTWOOD UNITED

Officers named for this group were: Harold Reid, chief ranger, Gordon Wilson, deputy chief, Donald Williams, captain of group games; council representatives, Gilbert Freeman and Gordon White. The Explorers group is led by Donald Wilson.

At a recent meeting of the Trail Ranger council the hockey league schedule was drawn up. Clubs will be entered from Central, Wesley, Avonmore, Garneau, Forest Heights, Erskine, Metropolitan and McDougall.

WESLEY

AVONMORE

Rev. Young is leading the Avonmore Olympics, as well as groups from Calvin and Forest Heights.

CENTRAL

This group formed a chess and checkers club this week and are eager to enter into competition with other clubs.

McDOUGALL

Led by Frank Brisbain, this group is collecting food to make up Christmas hampers for distribution by the Bissell Institute.

GARNEAU

Projects of this club include hobbies and dramatics. They will present a play at the Christmas concert, and will participate in a church parade Sunday.

Producing Plays Is One Big Job, City Lad Finds

Sponsored by the Hon. Frank Oliver chapter of the I.O.D.E., Edmonton's new "Carry On" club will present its first production, a musical comedy, on December 18 in the I.O.O.F. hall on 103 street, it was announced by the general manager, Garry R. Airth, who wrote the play, leads the club, digs up the music, and in general works his head off.

Garry was up to the Bulletin office Friday, with some advance notices on his masterpiece. He says the play will take the form of songs, dances and novelty numbers, wrapped around the theme of a "Talent Scout" (that's the name of the play) who is looking for a Canadian family, every member of which is musically minded, ends up in the backwoods with a family of settlers. "We think it's pretty good, ourselves," Garry remarked, "and we feel that this show will give Edmonton youngsters the chance to show what talent they have, and there's plenty of it, if the citizens are willing to back up their efforts."

Talent in the show will be provided by Edmonton's dancing schools, all the performers being of school age, and all very much interested in the work they're doing.

The proceeds of the concert will be turned over to the I.O.D.E. to be used in war work as they see fit. Tickets go on sale Monday and may be procured from any member of the cast or from any members of the I.O.D.E. chapter.

Director Airth said that the idea of the "Carry On" club originated in the program of the same name, when it was announced that similar clubs in eastern Canada were doing their bit towards the war effort. Patrons for the affair are His Worship Mayor John W. Fry and Mrs. J. E. Peterson, Regent for the chapter.

At the regular council meeting of the senior members of the C.G.I.T. of Edmonton and district it was decided to hold the next meeting in the clubroom of the Y.W.C.A. on Saturday, December 14, at 4 p.m. Other activities of the week include:

METROPOLITAN UNITED

A number of popular songs are being rehearsed for the Christmas concert. The "hartars" are planning a supper meeting and skating party. "Co-Panion" projects are nearing completion.

CENTRAL UNITED

Three of these groups are preparing skits for the Christmas concert on December 23.

BISSELL INSTITUTE

Both groups are preparing plays for the Christmas concert. The juniors held a skating party Friday, while the seniors had a regular meeting. It has been proposed that more time be spent on sports.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN

At the regular meeting held Tuesday it was decided to make a quilt which will be sent to a family in the north.

In Conference

NEW YORK, Dec. 7—(CP)—Clyde Pangborn arrived here Friday by plane from Montreal where he conferred with Canadian officials. The noted flier said he was unable to discuss the subject of the conference, but it was inferred it was in connection with the question of pilots, possibly to fly United States bombers to Britain from Canada.

Looking them Over

by JACK KELLY

Real Threat To City Hockey

HERE in Edmonton we are justly proud of the machinery that has been set up under the Edmonton District Hockey Association through years of hard work to provide organized hockey for hundreds of youngsters from bantams to juniors. What is mroe, we are looking forward to this machinery functioning better and better as a result of efforts put into assembling it.

But unless the Edmonton District Hockey Association takes prompt action to stop the pilfering of players by clubs under its jurisdiction the whole set-up is going to collapse some day like a building undermined by termites.

Right now I'm not going to name any clubs concerned in the matter for I think that the pilfering business will be stopped suddenly when all the facts of the matter are presented to President Barney Stanley of the E.D.H.A. Fortunately, Edmonton is probably the only city in Canada that has the necessary machinery to curb this evil, the said machinery consisting of the Edmonton District Hockey Association.

Roughly the situation is this. Four athletic clubs each operate a chain of bantam, midget and juvenile teams that produce players for the one junior team each club operates in the city league. E.A.C., Maple Leaf Athletic Club, Canadian Athletic Club and South Side Athletic Club are the four outfits concerned. The South Side will not be ready, however, for junior competition for another year.

Starting with bantams, each club outfits its kids with sweaters, pants, sticks, gloves and stockings. As the youngster advances to midget and juvenile ranks he is provided with skates if he has none of his own. This costs a lot of money and hard work. For example, the Canadians ran eight clubs last winter in these four divisions and it cost approximately $1,000.

Now then the primary purpose of all this is to give youngsters here a chance to play organized hockey, to build healthy bodies, to learn to be good sports and good citizens. While much of this money is donated by the sportsmen backing each athletic club, the whole structure would collapse if the junior league didn't draw gate receipts, for none of the other divisions draw any cash. If the junior loop is not fairly evenly balanced it won't draw and the whole set-up will become too expensive to carry on.

If each athletic club will mind its own business and religiously keep its hands off the stars that some other club has developed in midget or juvenile ranks, then the junior league will be pretty well balanced.

But if one outfit starts offering special inducements to another athletic club's players to join them, the balance is spoiled at once. One or two clubs become more and more powerful all the time and the others become weaker and weaker until they finally fold up. This cuts the foundations out from under the one or two powerful outfits and the whole shebang goes to pot for lack of competition and feeder machinery. The goose that laid the golden egg has been killed.

The Stamp Of Professionalism

THIS meddling with other clubs' players takes various forms. Each youngster is on a sort of player agreement to play for the one organization but all he has to do at present to get a transfer is to get a letter from his parents asking for such a transfer. More often than not the parents have no clear idea of what it is all about. They write the letter, the kid transfers—and his loss may wreck one of the teams of the athletic club that has spent a lot of money developing him, making it possible for him to play good enough to be in demand.

Wreck enough of these minor teams and that particular athletic club can't field a decent junior club. Let that go on for a few years and the organization is smashed.

Get this straight and clear. Not one of these athletic clubs seeks to make money for any purpose except that of helping along kids' hockey here. What is more, none of these clubs has ever made as much as it has spent. The difference comes from the members' pockets.

However, as a result of existing circumstances or the general attitude of some particular club toward sport, all of these four city athletic clubs can not compete equally with the others in offering inducements to good players.

If the Edmonton District Hockey Association will adopt a rule that no youngster can drop out of the athletic club organization he starts with unless he presents convincing reasons for so doing to an independent party, then this whole business of player robbery will be ended. The president of the E.D.H.A. would be an excellent person to pass on these applications for transfer.

Personally, I am against any player in junior, juvenile, midget or bantam ranks being given any inducement whatever to play with a particular club. It is putting mercenary, scheming and conniving ideas into a kid's head at an age when he should be taught the very oopposites.

Canadian Soldier Seeks English Middleweight Title

SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND, Dec. 7.—(CP)—Ray McIntyre, Negro fighter from Montreal now in England as a private with a 2nd Division Field Ambulance Company, is hoping for a crack at the English middleweight title held by Jock McAvoy.

Under the guidance of his manager, Pte. E. R. Nelson, also of Montreal, McIntyre is training for several warm-up bouts before making a bid for the crown. At present he is considered the best middle in the Canadian Forces Overseas and his reputation as a clean, fair fighter has won him friends among sports followers throughout the division.

It didn't discourage him and he is training hard again for a fight against Freddie Mills, one of England's outstanding middleweights. In 18 professional fights in Canada McIntyre lost only three, and those by decisions.

PURCELL BEATEN ONCE IN DOUBLES

WINNIPEG, Dec. 7.—(CP)—Jack Purcell of Toronto, Canadian professional badminton champion, won two of three exhibition doubles matches he participated in Friday night at the Winnipeg winter club as he completed a tour of Western Canada in aid of the Red Cross.

Purcell did not compete in singles because of a leg injury suffered at Saskatoon in the first matches of his tour.

Purcell paired with Mrs. G. G. Pirt to defeat Miss Audrey Garnett and Ed. Lemon 15-5, 7-15, 15-4. Jim Forsythe and Bert Jones defeated Purcell and Emsley Long 15-10, 7-15, 15-13 but in a second men's doubles the Toronto ace partnered Harold Parker to defeat Alan Williams and Charlie Jones 15-9, 15-9.

SPRUCE GROVE WINS HOOP GAME OVER WESTMOUNT

Spruce Grove defeated Westmount 23-10 at the Y.W.C.A. Friday night in the first game of the doubleheader in the City Girls' Basketball League.

The game was a very wide open brand with scoring taking the preference over defensive basketball. A total of 12 fouls was called.

Callihan and Stein were standouts for Spruce Grove, the former piling up a total of 12 points, with Stein next high with eight. Schwindt scored two and Elder one.

McConnell led Westmount scorers with five points. McLeod had three and Lawson two.

LINEUPS

Spruce Grove: Callihan, Elder, Steffler, Schwindt, Fuhr, Stein.

Westmount: McConnell, Barrington, McLeod, Gilroy, Mills, Lawson.

Y.W.C.A. BEATS HEAVENER SCHOOL

In the second game of the City Girls' Basketball doubleheader the Y.W.C.A. team took an 18-16 decision over Heavener School of Physical culture in a very closely fought match.

There was outstanding defensive work on both sides, but in spite of the closeness of the play only eight fowls were called.

P. Green of the Heavener School was the game's high scorer with a total of eight points. L. Green with three, Cairns and Mendrick with two each and Hughes with one were the other scorers for the losers.

For the Y.W. girls Watson was high with six, followed by McKillop with five. McAllister counted four and Forbes three.

LINEUPS

Heavener School: P. Green, I. Green, Hughes, Cairns, Duke, Mendrick.

Y.W.C.A.: Storey, Forbes, McKillop, McAllister, Watson.

South Side Club To Meet Monday

The new South Side Athletic Club will hold a meeting at the El Patio hall on Whyte Avenue on Monday starting at 7:30 p.m. Election of officers will be the chief matter of business to be attended to. The meeting is being called early in order that members may get away in time for the game between the Flyers and Trail Smoke Eaters.

Elect Officers

Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin

WETASKIWIN, Dec. 7—Executive members of the local hockey club this year are Fred Beaton, Ralph Pocock and James Paton. J. MacDonnell has again been named coach of the team.

Bonspiel Dates

VERMILION, Dec. 7—At a meeting held here of representatives of curling clubs from the towns on the C.N.R. between Vegreville and Lloydminster, bonspiel dates were set as follows:

Vegreville, Jan. 27 to 30; Lloydminster, Jan. 28 to 30; Innisfree, Feb. 4, 5, 6; Mannville, Feb. 11 to 15; Kitscoty, Feb. 18 to 22; Vermilion, Feb. 25 to 28; Islay, Mar. 5, 6.

The local curling club is holding a mixed bonspiel commencing Dec. 26.

Grid-Man Now G-Man

Setting a new record of 33 completed passes in one game failed to console Davey O'Brien, the mighty mite of the U.S. gridiron, when he was taken out of Philadelphia Eagles-Washington Redskins game at Washington with only a few seconds to play. It was his last football game, as Davey is leaving the Philadelphia team to join the G-men of the United States Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Baugh And O'Brien Record Prodigous Feats Of Passing

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—(BUP)—The prodigious passing feats of Sammy Baugh of the Washington Redskins and Davey O'Brien of the Philadelphia Eagles so conspicuous in erasing six National League football team records, also accounted for nine new individual marks, final statistics for the 1940 season revealed today.

Baugh and O'Brien each collared three of these new records, and O'Brien's tossing made it possible for a teammate, Don Looney, to attain the other three. Baugh, O'Brien and Looney all are products of Texas Christian University, Baugh graduating in 1936, and O'Brien-Looney forming the famous T.C.U. passing battery of 1938.

O'Brien broke three records against the Redskins last Sunday when he brought his total pass completions to the year to 124 by pitching 33 successful heaves that gained 316 yards.

Looney received 14 of Baugh's tosses for a gain of 180 yards to smash two former records. During the year he snagged 58 passes which bettered the mark of 41 held jointly by Gaynell Tinsley and Don Hutson.

Baugh ran up his records with a new efficiency mark of 62.7 per cent in 177 tosses, a total gain of 1,367 yards, and a new lifetime accuracy peak of 53.8 per cent.

FINAL INDIVIDUAL STATISTICS

Highway Cops, Utah Sheep Perplex Motoring McLemore

By HENRY McLEMORE

SALT LAKE CITY, Dec. 7.—(BUP)—Notes by a man who has just driven 750 miles without letting a car pass him, but who was fool enough to pass two police cars: If I don't get a press box ticket for the Notre Dame-Southern California game when I arrive in Los Angeles, I'll surely have enough speed tickets to get me into the best jail so I can listen to the game over the radio.

If I am ever forced by admiring friends to run for public office, it will be solely on a platform that demands all police cars be painted yellow for daytime, luminous for night time and be equipped with loudspeakers which constantly warn: "Cheese it, the cops!"

But enough of law and order. Let's take this next curve on two wheels and get on to a few sports items.

Tip to Clark Shaughnessy and his Stanford team: There is one play you need not build a defense against in preparing for Nebraska in the Rose Bowl. That is the fake placement kick. Biff Jones, Nebraska coach, got enough of that when he was coaching Louisiana State University and the late Huey Long was his self-appointed assistant. The fake placement kick was the one play Huey understood and he loved it—not only loved it, but demanded that Biff use it two or three times a game.

Biff didn't follow orders, but he got so sick of hearing about it that he wouldn't use it, even to win a bowl game. The next time you see Biff ask him to tell you how the Delta Dictator, flanked by two bodyguards, came into the L.S.U. dressing room between the halves of a game and demanded to talk to the team. He didn't get to talk, but he got Biff's resignation—and pronto.

Speaking of bowl games, I sorta envy those boys who'll draw the assignment to cover the Cotton Bowl in Dallas. I came from a state where hospitality is supposed to grow on trees, but the city of Dallas makes all other hospitality seem like a punch on the nose.

When you start naming the outstanding sports performers of 1940 how are you going to keep the name of Ace Parker from leading the list? He not only fitted himself into a new system under a new coach with the Brooklyn Dodgers, but he proved himself the outstanding pro football player of the year. And he did it with a fractured ankle! The two games I saw him play he was equipped with a steel brace that a convict trying to get home for Christmas couldn't have walked with.

Word has reached us way out here that the Boston Red Sox have sold two pitchers—Denny Galehouse and Fritz Ostermueller—and we all agree (and by "we" I mean myself and three cowpunchers I talked to just outside of Laramie, Wyo., yesterday) that Boston hasn't any right to sell a pitcher. "Give them Red Sox a few more pitchers," one cowpuncher said just before he headed a posse into a movie for a new Gene Autry picture, "and they'd lasso and brand everything in the American." I climbed into Old Paint—and when I say Old Paint, I mean it—and headed down highway 30.

UTAH FULL OF SHEEP

If I don't count sheep in my sleep tonight it will be purely because of strength of character. Utah is full of them and they have the right of way on the highways. And what's more, they know it. I've stared at them and steered around them all day long.

The Notre Dame team may justify my season-long confidence in it on Saturday by beating a weak Southern California club that has 12 men in the hospital with 'flu. If the Irish do win, I'll do my best not to point at my critics and cry, "I told you so!"

Seriously, the real trouble with Notre Dame this year is its guards. Elmer Layden feels, and rightly so, that his backfield is one of the best in Notre Dame history, but under the Notre Dame system the guards have to be something extra special, and they aren't. Still, this is pretty late in the season for me to be finding that out.

Doorman, unhitch Old Paint from that parking lot and let's be off!

PENDLETON, Ore., Dec. 7—(AP)—The Pendleton Roundup Board announced Friday that the 1941 rodeo would be held on Sept. 11, 12, 13 and 14, breaking a precedent in the 32-year history of the show by naming a Sunday date.

JACOBS STARTS MORE BATTLES THAN BLONDES

By JACK CUDDY

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—(BUP)—Mike Jacobs, in the busiest winter of his seven-year promotional career, is starting more fights than a tricky-eyed blonde at a stevedores' ball.

Before the flowers thrust up their little noggins in May, the Maestro of Maul will have staged more than 20 bouts during the Madison Square Garden season, and several more outside of New York. Which shapes up as a record of some sort.

Mr. Jacobs and his disobedient store teeth arrived today at Detroit where he will have a finger in the pie when big Abe Simon tries to clinch a title shot at Joe Louis by beating another Detroit negro, Roscoe Toles.

After the Detroit show, "Uncle" Mike returns to Manhattan for the signing of Billy Conn to defend his light heavyweight title against Tommy Tucker of New York at an undisclosed site and date. It seems that Billy-the-Kid's six months time allowance has expired, and he must defend the 175-pound crown shortly or give it up, even though this defense interrupts his ambitious campaign among the heavies.

KEEPS LOUIS BUSY

Next Jacobs must drum up three more title bouts for Bomber Louis who already is slated to meet Al McCoy at Boston, Dec. 16, and Red Burman at New York, Jan. 31. Jacobs is putting "Play-Boy" Louis on a fight-a-month schedule to be certain that the somewhat logey champion will be in shape when he begins May training for his outdoor June defense against Billy Conn or Maxie Baer—if Louis still has the title then. Bomber Joe's three additional defenses probably will be made at Philadelphia, Detroit and Chicago.

Jacobs, who already has staged seven bouts this season at the Garden and one in Boston, will be busy meanwhile ballyhooing five other shows already set for the Garden:

FULL CALENDAR

(1) Ken Overlin defends his middleweight crown on Dec. 13 against young Steve Belloisev, (2) Lew Jenkins, lightweight king, and Fritzie Zivic, welterweight champ, tangle in a non-title 12-rounder on Dec. 20; (3) Billy Sose, who has registered non-title victories over both middleweight champions—Overlin and Tony Zale—fights 10-rounds with undefeated young Tami Mauriello of New York on Jan. 3; (4) on Jan. 10, two heavyweight 10-rounders match Pat Comiskey against Lou Nova, and Lee Savold against Bill Poland, and (5) Henry Armstrong tries to recapture the welterweight title from Fritzie Zivic on Jan. 17.

During the next couple of weeks more matches will be announced because Jacobs still has about eight Garden dates to fill before April when the rodeo moves into the house that Rickard built. He also has other out-of-town commitments.

Bears Play At Lacombe Tonight

Accompanied by Jack Walker, manager; Stan Moher, coach, and Max Yates, trainer, Varsity's Golden Bears leave for Lacombe this afternoon where they are due for their first hockey test of the season. The game will start at 9:15 p.m.

Lacombe is reputed to have the best team in several years and has not been beaten so far in the Central Alberta League.

Coach Moher has not yet announced who will be making the trip, but the team for tonight will be chosen from the following: For goal either Harry Leggett or Bob Torrance; defence, Mageste Santopinto, Pat Costigan, Gordon Darling; forwards, Bob Schrader, Bud Chesney, Ed. Crowder, Jim Brimacombe, Jack Minchin, Jack Brousseau, Hal Haverstock, Jack Taylor, Vern McDougall.

This year's university team has representatives from all parts of the province. Santopinto is from Calgary, Schrader is from Olds, Brimacombe hails from Vermilion, Minchin from Grande Prairie, Brousseau's home is in St. Paul, Haverstock comes from Camrose, McDougall from Unity, Sask., and Costigan and Taylor are from Stettler. The other boys are from Edmonton.

Lethbridge's Alex Kaleta Is Second By Four Points

CALGARY, Dec. 7.—(CP)—Eddie O'Keefe, ace of Edmonton Flyers, is perched on top of the official scoring averages in the Alberta Senior Hockey League with 19 points, made up of 11 goals and eight assists, and appears to be well on the way to winning his second successive crown.

O'Keefe literally blasted his way to the top, collecting 10 points in Edmonton's 13-5 victory over Lethbridge Maple Leafs on Wednesday. He is also tops among actual goal-scorers and is tied with Alex Kaleta, of Lethbridge, at the top of the assist column.

Despite Eddie's big scoring splurge, he still has plenty of opposition in the point race. Kaleta is only four points behind with 15 and Ken Stewart, also of Lethbridge, is only one point behind Kaleta.

Don Culley, Lethbridge, who was the pace-setter two weeks ago, is tied with Doug Cairns, Turner Valley sharpshooter, for fourth place with 11 points.

Gordon Sherritt, of Edmonton Flyers, took over sole possession of "badman" honors, having served 16 minutes in the penalty box. Dave Duchak, Calgary, who shared the honor with Sherritt early in the season, is in second place with 14 minutes.

Following are the leading scorers:

With The Pin Busters

Art Buckman of the Nut House five had top single in the Mercantile 10 Pins on Friday night with his second game score of 256 and his team-mate Jim Cockburn walked off with triple rolling 245, 180 and 167 for a total of 592. Best team aggregate was won by the Nut Housers who had a net 2,635.

Ed. Carlson of the Moose led the City 10 Pins league for high one game with 235 and Benny Klingspoon's 574 was the best triple. Benny rolled 157, 201 and 216. Ed. Auto Spring Works took three straight and the Moose had the best net team count with 2660.

C.N.R. MIXED

Ten teams bowled in the C.N.R. Mixed Fives and M. Speakman's second string score of 328 was the best for a single game. H. Wood didn't have much opposition for three game high rolling 282, 222 and 186 for a total of 690. Polka Dots only won one game, but their 2,504 was the highest team aggregate.

M. German led the six teams in the Nurses' League starting off with 237, dropping to 142 and finishing with 163 for a total of 542, to win three game honors. The highest single count was 256 made by Stigal of Spitfires. Colleens had the best team aggregate with a net 2,069. Bombers were next with 2,015.

In the Junior Commercial Ladies, Ungarian of Kresges "2" had top single with 226. Roper of the Binderettes took the triple by rolling 204, 202 and 191 good for total of 597. Binderettes piled up a team aggregate 2,370 with Kresges "2" in second place with a net 2,146.

Rinks Are Ready

Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin

ROCKY MOUNTAIN HOUSE, Dec. 7.—Ice is ready on the curling and skating rinks and children have had two nights of free skating. Hockey will start at once, with local games until the boys get some practice. Joseph Moules has been appointed manager of both rinks.

DANIEL FERRIS STILL WORRYING ABOUT STATUS

DENVER, Dec. 7.—(BUP)—Fear that Tom Harmon's participation in the east-west charity football game in San Francisco on New Year's Day might jeopardize the amateur standing of the others players, subsided today when it was learned that the A.A.U. probably would grant them permission to play with the Michigan all-American.

Daniel Ferris, A.A.U. secretary-treasurer, had said yesterday that any athletes who played with or against Harmon would endanger their amateur status for A.A.U.-sponsored basketball, track and swimming events because Harmon was considered "ineligible" for allegedly receiving $900 for a radio program.

Today, however, he said he felt sure the A.A.U. would permit players to play since the game is for charity. Proceeds from the game go to the Shrine Crippled Children's Hospital.

"We are not sticking our neck into something that does not interest us," he continued, "because the A.A.U. has no jurisdiction over football. Harmon, however, in the eyes of the A.A.U., capitalized on his athletic fame if he received $900 for a radio broadcast because obviously he would not be worth that much if he were not a well-known athlete. Should he ever desire to participate in an A.A.U. event, he would have to apply for reinstatement."

The 52nd convention of the amateur athletic body began with numerous sites for 1941 events to be decided and 322 records awaiting ratification. The proposed Pan-American games also will come in for discussion during the four-day session.

Buenos Aires already has announced plans for the western hemisphere games in 1942. A committee appointed by A.A.U. President Lorenzo di Benedetto of New Orleans has been working since last spring on plans for Pan-American games in this country during 1941.

Des Moines and Los Angeles are expected to ask for the national outdoor track and field championships. The University of Michigan and the Penn Athletic Club of Philadelphia want the men's indoor swimming championships. Minneapolis and San Francisco are seeking to stage men's and women's outdoor swimming championships.

What A Hope!

DENVER, Dec. 7.—(AP)—A letter from Berlin inviting the United States to send a boxing team to a "world boxing championship" in Germany in 1942 was displayed at the National Amateur Athletic Union convention Friday by Roy E. Davis, chairman of the A.A.U. boxing committee.

The letter was sent by way of Siberia.

It was signed by a "Dr. Metzner," head of the department of physical education for the Reich. Davis, who said he once had met Dr. Metzner, made no comment about the invitation.

East Cape, the easternmost extremity of Siberia, is the point where each day begins before it begins at any other place on earth, through an agreement of scientists and astronomers.

City Junior Hockey League Teams Play During Weekend

TWO games in the City Junior Hockey League will be played over the weekend. Tonight at 9 o'clock the Maple Leafs and E.A.C. will play at the Arena and on Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock the Canadians take on the Edmonton Athletic Club squad.

Both the Leafs and the E.A.C. expect to be at full strength for tonight's tussle. They have played two games so far this season and both have gone into overtime with each team copping off a win. With the odd game at stake to give additional zest to the old-time rivalry, these two clubs can be counted on to make a trip out to the Arena well worth while.

Sunday afternoon's attraction between the Canadians and Athletic Club holds added interest in view of the showing the Canucks made against the Maple Leafs on Thursday night. Coach Jimmie Graham appears to be getting results for his charges put up a real battle against the Leafs and as the team will be further strengthened the E.A.C. squad will no doubt have a battle on its hands.

Trail Smoke Eaters Take Lead In West Kootenay Hockey League

Snow And Cold Expected For East's Grid Final Today

OTTAWA, Dec. 7.—(CP)—Ottawa Rough Riders took their final limbering-up licks Friday night in preparation for today's clash with Toronto Balmy Beach, and though an eastern Canadian football championship hinges on the game, the most engrossing topic seemed to be the weather.

As Riders smoothed out the rough edges, Manager Jim McCaffrey thumbed through almanacs and weather logs to see if there couldn't possibly be a break coming in the weather. Last reports from him were discouraging.

The forecast was for snowflurries Friday and Saturday and late today a driving fall of snow justified part of the augury.

Only one Rider player—Snapback Cyril "Curley" Moynahan—was definitely declared out of the game Moynahan has a septic throat condition. Bunny Wadsworth, ponderous middle wing, remained a doubtful starter, still bothered by an injured knee.

Riders carry a six-point lead into today's game—the second of a home-and-home, total points series—but coach Ross Trimble doesn't intend to stand pat on that margin from last Saturday's 8-2 victory.

His last word on the subject was: "We're going out for points right from the start, and we're going to get as many as we can.

"I feel we can take Beaches today—but I'm looking for a real scrap. All down the line, they haven't a weakness. Just the same, with Tony Golab ready to go, I'm confident we'll take the game and title."

Balmy Beach Still Confident

TORONTO, Dec. 7.—(CP)—Undaunted by reports indicating poor weather conditions, Toronto Balmy Beach left for Ottawa and the second game of the eastern football final Friday night confident down to the last substitute that they still have a real chance against the Rough Riders.

They carried their six-point deficit lightly as they stepped on a train for the capital, from where they received last-minute weather reports that it would probably snow today and that the field already is rock-hard and hardly the kind on which to play good football.

The fact they were beaten 8-2 in the first game of the total-point series last Saturday, the fact that Riders generally are conceded to have a slight edge in every department and the fact that Beaches' weakest spot was damaged further by discovery of an injury to Outside Stew Holden's knee didn't phase the Balmies.

Holden will not play today, leaving Beaches short two of their regular outsides. Sid Reynolds, their ace, was stricken with appendicitis two weeks ago. With Holden and Reynolds on the sidelines, Leo Deadey and Glen Salter probably will have to bear the brunt of the end work for Beaches.

Coach Alex Ponton wouldn't make any predictions about the outcome of the game, but he did say that Beaches would fight every bit as hard as last Saturday.

Rotarians Help

Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin

RED DEER, Dec. 7—At the weekly luncheon meeting of the Red Deer Rotary Club question of support for the intermediate hockey club was brought up by E. G. Johns and Jack Teasdale. They felt that the citizens should get behind the team. After discussion the members went on record as pledging themselves to back the hockey club, morally and financially. Dr. J. B. Long, Jack Teasdale and J. M. McAfee were appointed a committee from the Rotary Club to co-operate with the hockey club.

BIG TREE STUMP DANCE FLOOR OF CALAVERAS COUNTY, California
THE ORIGINAL TREE WAS 302 FEET HIGH AND 2000 YEARS OLD!

EXPLANATION OF TODAY'S CARTOON

THE BIG TREE STUMP OF CALAVERAS CO., CALIF.: The 18-inch bark of the original tree was removed by some vandals to a height of 30 feet. Out o' the bark a house was built which was exhibited at the Crystal Palace Exhibition in London. The mutilated tree had to be chopped down, and on the remaining stump 49 people (including musicians and onlookers) danced a cotillion on July 4, 1854. The original tree was 302 feet high, 96 feet in circumference, 2,000 years old. For many years dances were performed on this tree every Saturday night, religious services were held on it on Sundays, and a newspaper called "The Big Tree Bulletin" was printed and published on it.

S-T-R-E-T-C-H AND SMILE

News from the Health and Recreation Centres

By EIGIL HORNUNG

EVERY Health and Recreation Centre that we look in on these days is bustling with activity and enthusiasm. This is the season when plays and first demonstrations of the new classes are being whipped into shape and everyone is busy.

First of all we ran into Isobel Wells wearing that big smile of hers. Isobel was delighted, as are all the trainees at Calder, for the fine co-operation given them by the authorities of the I.O.O.F. at Calder, enabling them to use the hall in the future for classes every Monday and Wednesday evening starting December 9 at 8 o'clock.

The dance planned for Saturday, December 14, has been changed to Friday night, December 13—a real Jinx dance. And while talking about Calder, they had the grandest skating party Monday night. All members turned out for a real good time and Isobel claims to have led the parade of ice-dusters.

A demonstration by members of the classes from Norwood, Calder and Cromdale centres for the benefit of the Norwood O.E.S. proved to be a huge success.

Spruce Grove, our new centre, is like a beehive. Glen Carmichael, our chief sponsor, must be working overtime to get the young folks out for classes. Every time we go there he has some new members and the hall is nearly bulging with people. On wednesday night there must have been over 50 ladies and men there. Some came five and six miles to get their daily dozen, and we have never seen so many lads over six feet tall as this centre has with at least six men registered over the six-foot mark.

Fundamental gymnastics, folk dancing and community singing brings us close together at that center and both Jean Fuller and I myself feel very much at home among our new friends.

CARVEL BUSY

Carvel is busy too. Miss G. Satten is working on a play to be put on at the hall on December 19. At the same time we will also have a demonstration of our P.T. work and folk dancing by the members of the Carvel class. The girls and boys are really working hard to get the toes pointed and the timing perfect.

Coming back into the city we find the ladies at Westmount Centre enjoying a fast game of volleyball after a good workout in fundamentals and exercises in two's. The class is still very small but Cal Holmgren hopes to see many more out after the Christmas candy has been digested. The boys, although not numerous, are doing well and are very enthusiastic. Do they ever go to town on tumbling! They stage real thrills and spills.

Cromdale centre had the pleasure of seeing Supervisor Routledge and wife, the well known, Instructor Saralee, both still a little shaky in the knees from the 'flu. This centre is a going concern but of course the Manhandling Vic is the instructor. We also learn that they are planning a social evening in the near future, as is the King Edward school centre where a good attendance at the classes has been registered. Vic tells us Jumping Jim Grieve is an outstanding athlete and Allen Ayerst nearly split himself the other night trying to keep up with Jim. The split was fortunately only superficial.

We have heard rumors that an instructors' conference will be held around December 28 this year. Did you attend the last one? If so, you will know how funny they are.

This week we'll take the half short arm balance on one chair. You must of course have more than one spotter to hold both you and the chair steady so there'll be no accidents.

Stand facing one side of the chair so the back of it is at your left hand. Grasp the back close to you with your left hand and put your left shoulder on the back at the side away from you. Pad it if you wish so you won't bark any skin off your shoulder. Now place your right hand flat on the chair seat, in the middle, but with the little finger of your hand right out along the front edge of the seat. Now you're all set.

Swing up your left leg, and follow it immediately with the right. Quickly get your legs together, point those toes, get that back arched, get your head up, and keep your right elbow straight. Now you're doing the balance. The next thing to do is get down again, turn the chair around, and do the balance on the other hand. That is very important. As far as possible learn to do all your gymnastics both to the right and to the left, and don't fool yourself that your left arm or leg is too weak or clumsy. If it is it's only because you never use it, and you'll be much better for learning to do things with it because you won't be so lop-sided.

As soon as you have mastered this, shove the shoulder that is on the back of the chair, off the back of it, that you are balanced on your two hands only. Practice this till it is very easy, then start straightening that top arm, so that most of the weight is one the hand on the seat. Then you are getting real control.

I hope that all this while you have been keeping the hand on the seat flat and pointing straight ahead, not gripping the seat. You will become a much better balancer if you do. Try as soon as you can to get as much control of the balance in the hand on the seat, and not in the hand on the chair back.

Next week I'll tell you how to progress on the chair balancing and the handspring too.

ELECT OFFICERS

The junior group of the Rifle Association, under the direction of Ralph H. Johnson, provincial boy scout commissioner, and Howard Wilson, elected the following executive for the coming season:

Chairman, Paul Greenwood; secretary, Bill Taylor; assistant secretary treasurers, Bill Priest, Keith Krinke, Bud Taylor.

About 10 per cent of the farms in the United States were under 20 acres in size and 30 per cent under 50 acres, in 1880. Today, 18 per cent are under 20 acres and 40 per cent under 50 acres.

No-Trade Rule For Champs Kills Business In Players

ATLANTA, Dec. 7.—(AP)—A year ago this week the American Baseball League handcuffed New York Yankees with its rule that the champion club can make no trades with other clubs of the league, and though its virus has been passed along now to Detroit, the effect lingers on.

Joe McCarthy has been hanging around the minor league meetings all week and Friday he made a deal.

He sent outfielder Jake Powell to San Francisco of the Coast League for approximately the waver price of $7,500. That hardly could be construed as an impressive first step in the reconstruction of the former champions.

But it was indicative of the trading doldrums into which the American League has fallen.

The situation was sufficiently serious that rumors were around that the restriction on trading by the pennant winner might be lifted when the American League meets Chicago starting next Tuesday

CHAMP JENKINS LIKES CANADIAN STORE COURTESY

TORONTO, Dec. 7.—(CP)—For all the dynamite he packs in his fists, Lew Jenkins is an easy-going guy at heart. He's interested in music—he plays the guitar—and above all in extolling the merits of his beloved Texas.

The world's lightweight boxing champion came here to see his stablemate, Lou Salica, successfully defend his bantamweight crown against Small Montana.

An affable chap, he talked freely about the Hillbilly band he's in the process of forming, the football players that come out of Texas and his first visit north.

Lew said football was his favorite sport—boxing was strictly a business with him—and told about the exploits of Sammy Baugh, Davie O'Brien and other noted gridsters who come from Texas.

The country hereabouts reminded him a lot of his home state where he hopes to retire in the near future to the more quiet business of ranching. He indicated the matter of retirement was not so remote when he remarked the money he realizes from his approaching bout with Pete Zivic will help considerably in the purchase of a ranch.

On the subject of his presence in Toronto, Lew said the courtesy of the store clerks here astounded him.

"Why the wife and I went into one store and when what we wanted was not in stock, the clerk came outside with us and pointed to a store down the street where he said he was sure we could get it," he said.

"Imagine anything like that happening in New York City. To show our appreciation we went right back in the store and bought something else."

Sports . . . . Roundup

By EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—(AP)—Penn's Francis Reagan has been offered $5,000 by the Athletics; $7,500 by the Red Sox, and a promise from the Yankees they'll better any offer he gets. Tip: He is a Yankee rooter. . . . Horton Smith thinks British golf may never recover from the present war and that such shrines as St. Andrew, Prestwick, Sandwich and Deal may go by the boards. . . .

Young Bob Sweeny, the wealthy playboy golfer, now flying with the Eagle squadron of the Royal Air Force, has cabled friends here to rush—his golf clubs.

Ragtime News Review:

All the baseball addicts hate to see Paul Waner get the gate, and hope he lands another job that keeps him in the baseball mob, for it was not so long ago that he sat in the upper row. He'd step up there and bust that ball and make the fielders climb the wall.

Boy, he could hit and that is why this Waner chap was quite a guy.

The sports world lost a regular guy when Capt. Phil Scott died in that Chicago plane crash. He piloted the 1927 Minnesota hockey team.

Lady Curlers Have Six Rinks

WETASKIWIN, Dec. 7—The Ladies Curling Club has started the season here with six rinks.

Kelley (skip) Wazel, Coluson, E. Caine, F. Condie; Somers (skip) McDougall, L. Thomson, E. Aboussafy; Rankin (skip) Thresher, Olstad, Wright; Recknagle (skip) Paulson, Bannerman, Grabham, McMurdo (skip) Haas, Kiel, E. Johnson; Orr (skip) Fredell, Beller, M. McAllister.

On the opening night games were played by rinks skipped by Mrs. Kelley against P. Rankin, with the former winning and Mrs. K. Orr tied F. Recknagle.

The following committees were appointed by the president, Mrs. C. B. McMurdo: draw, Mrs. Helen Haas; entertainment, Mrs. Kelley (convener) Mrs. Fredell, Mrs. Beller and Mrs. Paulson; inter-club committee, Mrs. Somers and Bette Bannerman. It is expected that several more rinks will be formed within the next week or two, and judging from the enthusiasm shown to date the season promises to be better than last year when seven rinks were formed.

The men's curling club also got underway this week with sixteen rinks drawn and it is expected that more will be made up later on.

Play Flyers Here Monday In Inter-League Exchange

KIMBERLEY, B. C., Dec. 7.—(CP)—The one-time world amateur champion Trail Smoke Eaters went into undisputed first place in the West Kootenay Hockey League Friday night by handing the equally-famous Kimberley Dynamiters a 4-3 defeat in the first game of the season on Kimberley ice.

Immediately after the game, Smokies left for Lethbridge where they will play the Turner Valley Oilers Saturday night in the first of the exchange games between the West Kootenay and Alberta senior leagues. Monday night the Smokies play in Edmonton, Tuesday they play the Calgary Stampeders and Wednesday they go back to Lethbridge to play the Maple Leafs.

Tommy Dunn, Bunny Dame, Hedley Marshall and Ab Cronie were the Trail marksmen, the latter getting what proved to be the winning goal as Dynamiters pressed hard in the final period. Frank Sullivan Ralph Redding and Gordon Wilson were the Kimberley scorers.

A capacity crowd of 1,500 saw the game. The Smoke Eaters used three forward lines and the extra line proved successful when the heavy ice necessitated many quick changes for forwards.

Only seven penalties were handed out, but the game was rough and bruising from the start. In the second period Maurice Duffy and Mike Patrick tangled and each received five-minute penalties.

Trail jumped into a first period lead when Dunn scored from a sharp angle after taking a double relay from Bob Marshall and Al McFadzen. The Dynamiters got back on even terms in the second period after Frank Sullivan evened the count on Lyall Swanney's pass, but the Smokies came back fast with two smart goals.

Bunny Dame whipped in Mike Buckna's pass and near the end of the period Hedley Marshall scored on a setup with Buckna, with the latter making the play.

Two goals down, the Dynamiters soon cut the lead, with Redding scoring on a three-man play with Denny Redisky and Mike Patrick. But Trail hit back at the 12-minute mark when Cronie whipped in Dame's pass and the late rush was held to one goal, Gordon Wilson scoring on a double relay from Mike Patrick and Denny Redisky.

Wants Card Back

MONTREAL, Dec. 7.—(CP)—President T. Doug Robertson of the Canadian Amateur Basketball Association said Thursday night that Doug Peden of Victoria, professional six-day bike rider, has applied for reinstatement to amateur basketball ranks. Peden played with Canada's Olympic basketball team and championship clubs in British Columbia before turning professional.

REGINA RANGERS DEFEAT YORKTON

YORKTON, Sask., Dec. 7.—(CP)—Regina Rangers came from behind in the last period last night for a 6-5 hard-fought Saskatchewan Senior Hockey League victory over Yorkton Terriers that increased their second-place hold to three points. It was Rangers third win in four starts and they are only a game behind Saskatoon.

Stan Bladon's second goal clinched the verdict. Other Rangers' scorers were Bush, Grant Warwick, Herman Gruhn and Bill Owen. The Fraser brothers, Harvey and Archie, each scored two and Bill Westbury the other tally for Terriers.

Knolla Is Top Ground Gainer

SEATTLE, Dec. 7.—(BUP)—The American football statistical bureau confirmed today that Johnny Knolla of Creighton University was the nation's No. 1 ground gainer for the 1940 collegiate season.

With two more games than Michigan's Tom Harmon, Knolla gained 1,420 yards. Harmon, according to revised official figures from the Michigan-Ohio state contest, finished with 1,346 yards.

The bureau, winding up its season's statistics, also revealed that Knolla carried or passed the ball in 296 plays, more than in any other back this year.

U.S. Football Bows Out Today

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—(AP)—College football, having ruled the United States sports world for 10 weeks, bows out for 1940 today with scattered games through the south and far west. When next the crowds gather for the bowl games it will be New Years Day, 1941.

Today's biggest throng—probably 80,000—will see a battle between Notre Dame and Southern California at Los Angeles, with the next largest witnessing the Southwest Conference finale between Rice and Southern Methodist at Houston.

Single G Dies

TIPTON, Ind., Dec. 7.—(AP)—Single G, one of the greatest pacers in the United States, died Friday at the farm of Float Jolly where he was 30 years old.

The famed horse had one of the longest racing careers of any big time performer, appearing on the tracks until he was 16 years old. His record was 1:58 ½.

GIDEONS REACH HIGH TOTAL IN BIBLE PLACING

Following its comparatively recent policy of placing the Holy Bible in schools, the Christian Commercial Association, familiarly known as The Gideons, has placed 2631 Bibles this year in schools in Alberta, it was stated by Will O. Green, secretary for Canada of The Gideons.

Requests have been received from 28 of the 48 major school divisions for Bibles, Mr. Green said.

Mr. Green said that during the Gideons' past fiscal year, from September, 1939, to the same date of 1940, in other words, the first year of the war, the Gideons placed 17,054 Bibles throughout Canada, the largest number in their history.

Of these, more than 10,000 were placed in schools across Canada, the remainder being the usual number placed in hotels, hospitals and prisons.

"I believe that this is an indication of more serious thinking on the part of most people, brought about by the state of the world," he said.

Mr. Green was secretary of the Edmonton Y.M.C.A. from 1914 to 1922, but was overseas part of that time.

On Sunday morning he will be guest speaker at Knox United church and in the evening at Highlands United.

"Freedom"

"And ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free." —Jno. 8:32.

ALMOST two thousand years ago those words were spoken by the greatest teacher this world has ever known. We, today, across the span of centuries, in a world in which the right to freedom is being challenged by ruthless foes, do well to ask ourselves if we have yet grasped the full significance of that gem of Divine wisdom.

Truth and Freedom are inseparably bound together. No genuine and enduring freedom can exist apart from a knowledge of and a submission to the truth.

Herein is revealed in striking contrast the difference between the Totalitarian and the Christian way of life.

Totalitarianism is dependent upon the ability of a dictator to delude and to deceive its subjects and to gain their blind allegiance by keeping them in ignorance of the truth.

The Free Christian democratic way of life is dependent upon the degree of enlightenment with which its people are blessed. "Ye shall know the truth and the truth shall make you free."

That which promotes truth promotes freedom. That which distorts, perverts, or destroys the truth strikes a death blow at the very heart of Freedom.

Above the din of the present conflict, waged that Freedom shall not perish from the earth, rises a warning cry from those who carry the torch—

Beware of him who despises his Christian Birthright of Freedom by making it a license to plunge the dagger of falsehood into Freedom's heart of Truth.

Rev. Lystig To Speak Sunday At Lutheran Church

"Approaching the Lord's Return" will be the theme of the sermon given by Rev. C. S. Lystig, pastor of Central Lutheran church on Sunday morning. An evening service will be conducted at the church as well. E. Marken will act as choir director.

SCIENCE CHURCH LESSON SERMON

"God the Only Cause and Creator" is the subject of the lesson-sermon at all Christian Science churches on Sunday. The Golden Text is Hebrews 3:4. One of the Scriptural citations is, "For of him, and through him, and to him, are all things: to whom be glory for ever. Amen." (Romans 11:36). One of the correlative passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, is, "Divine Mind is the only cause or Principle of existence. Cause does not exist in matter, in mortal mind, or in physical forms" (p. 262).

INDIAN RESERVE PRINCIPAL DIES: PIONEER PASTOR

TORONTO, Dec. 7—Word of the death of Rev. John F. J. Marshall, principal of the Indian Reservation school at Sioux Lookout since 1923, has been received in Toronto by Rev. Canon L. A. Dixon, general secretary of the Missionary Society of the Church of England in Canada. Funeral was held in Toronto, Wednesday, Nov. 27.

Rev. Mr. Marshall was born in Loughgall, County Armagh, Ireland, educated in Toronto and graduated from Wycliffe College in 1909. He represented St. Anne's church as their missionary at Norway House, Man., until 1926, when he became the first principal of the Indian residential school at Sioux Lookout, Ont.

He was a member of Assiniboia Lodge, A.F. & A.M., Winnipeg; a past grand chaplain of the province of Manitoba, and a past deputy grand chaplain of British America in the Orange order. In 1911 he married Mabel Evelyn Long of Toronto.

He is survived by his widow, three sons, Edward, George and Sagastao; a sister, Mrs. Rev. H. L. Day of Elk Point, Alberta, a brother, W. E. Marshall, and an uncle, Rev. E. J. McKittrick of Toronto.

BIBLE SOCIETY CONTINUES WORK DESPITE BOMBS

Recent news from London reports that the Bible Society continues to carry on its work from headquarters in London, England. The Bible House had its windows blown in by bombs falling on two occasions, on Queen Victoria street. These "have been boarded up as a temporary measure, but electric light is still available, and there is not the slightest reason why our activities should be curtailed."

"Two main difficulties have been experienced. Travelling is not so easy as in peaceful days and journeys from the suburbs and the outlying districts take much longer than usual. Then there is the waste of time and the boredom due to the necessity of retiring to the basement during raids. However, we carry on after the 'alert' warning has been sounded and retire to safety only when the watchers on the roof warn us that danger is imminent. These 'Jim Crows,' as Mr. Churchill picturesquely names them, are doing a splendid bit of work, and their vigilance is increasing.

During the past year 3,000,000 copies of the Scriptures in many languages were sent out from Great Britain alone to the uttermost parts of the world. This is a wonderful achievement in a year of war when all lines of communication and transportation have been disrupted and all labor made to serve war ends. To find time and facilities to publish, and space sufficient to transport the Word of God in such quantities in time of war, is cause for thanksgiving to God and cause for encouragement to every believing and praying Christian. This may yet rank as one of Britain's greatest achievements in the war, and do more to promote the victory that is coming than anything else.

AID IN STRUGGLE SERMON SUBJECT FOR M'DOUGALL

Rev. A. K. McMinn, minister of McDougall, will speak at the morning worship on "Something We Can All Do to Help," which is a very practical project that will not require much time, effort or sacrifice and which may prove decisive in the present struggle.

At the evening service the minister's subject will be "Ready to Testify on the Stand." It is based upon the story of the part played by the nephew of St. Paul after the latter was arrested, and deals with the situation now confronting Christians that requires us to be ready for the test of personal testimony.

Miss Kathleen Busby will be the soloist at the evening service, and Mrs. M. McLeod at the morning service.

CAPT. CLOUGH TO ADDRESS SERVICE

Capt. Canon C. F. A. Clough, judge of the juvenile court in Edmonton and chaplain of the Edmonton Garrison, will speak at the student service on Sunday morning at Convocation hall, when his topic will be "The Challenge."

The university choir will sing the anthem, "Send Out Thy Light."

"New Jerusalem" Is Sermon Topic At Holy Trinity

Canon G. G. Reynolds, rector of Holy Trinity church, will occupy the pulpit of the church on Sunday morning, when he will speak on "The New Jerusalem." During the Sunday evening service, he will speak on the Bible.

Gideons Secretary Guest Preacher At Knox United

Dominion secretary of The Gideons, W. J. Green will be the guest preacher at Knox United church on Sunday morning, when he will speak on "The Word at Work." The soloist will be Frank Williams. O. Cypris and J. Hutchinson will be speakers at the Sunday evening service.

Spiritualism

Mr. Stoker will conduct the Sunday evening service at the City Temple of Spiritualism. On Friday evening an open circle meeting will be held at the temple.

Writer Expelled

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Dec. 7.—(AP)—Elizabeth Hodgson, 21-year-old correspondent for the London News Chronicle, who was expelled from Turkey, arrived here Friday. Miss Hodgson said the expulsion from Turkey was the result of "a misunderstanding," and that she expected to receive permission to return within a month. She declined further comment.

KINGSTON, Jamaica, Dec. 7.—(CP)—Members of the mission seeking expanded Canadian trade in the West Indies and South America began Friday a round of conferences with Jamaica business and financial leaders.

Soldier Asphyxiated In Refrigerator Car First Gunner To Bag Nazi Plane

MEDICINE HAT, Dec. 6.—Paul Reynolds Scott, 20, of Port Coquitlam, B.C., one of the two victims of carbon monoxide poisoning in a refrigerator car at Empress Nov. 21, was today identified by his father as the first Canadian gunner who brought down a German bomber. His father, Frederick William Scott, came to Alberta yesterday to identify his son.

Gunner Scott, according to a letter home, was on duty in a field in Britain when a German bomber came over at low altitude. One of the two engines was not functioning. Scott fired a burst of tracer bullets and caught the airplane squarely. The machine crashed a few hundred yards away. Inside were found two dead Germans and five seriously injured.

Considerable publicity was given to the event, and it was described as the first time a Canadian gunner had brought down a plane from the air.

Gunner Scott had always been anxious to get into the air force. He had enlisted in the 108th Royal Canadian Artillery and had gone overseas on Jan. 5. Several times he had asked for transfer to the air force. Evidently he had obtained leave of absence for he returned to Canada early in November. He was on his way home when he met his tragic death.

For days he and his companions had been unidentified at Empress. His father after reading the description in the Vancouver papers decided to come east to make sure if one was his son or not. One reason was that he had not received a letter for a considerable time and his son was a consistent writer. One of the victims proved to be his son.

Besides his mother and father he is survived by six brothers and one sister. He was prominent in athletics and starred at baseball.

Dead Youth Wanted To Join Air Force

PORT COQUITLAM, B.C., Dec. 7.—(CP)—Mrs. Frederick W. Scott, mother of 20-year-old Cpl. Paul Reynold Scott, R.C.A., whose body was identified Friday in Medicine Hat, Alta., as one of two youths found dead in a refrigerator car Nov. 21, said yesterday that her son "always wanted to fly."

(The youth went overseas last January with a Canadian artillery unit, but had several times applied for transfer to the air force. He returned to Canada early in November and apparently was on his way home when killed.)

"As long as I can remember, he wanted to fly," said Mrs. Scott. "When he joined the army more than a year ago it was in the hope of sooner or later getting into the air force.

"I heard from him only two days ago. He'd written me from London. In his letter he said that in his last examination he had been placed in category C. When he left home he was in perfect physical condition."

Paul was lucky on his Atlantic crossing coming home, she said. He was aboard a ship in a large convoy returning to Canada. In a letter found in his pocket he told of a gale that disabled the ship's engines and "lost" her for 12 hours from the rest of the convoy.

"He was anxious to get home," Mrs. Scott said. "About the only thing he said of the war in his letter from London was 'We're getting hell over here, but we're getting used to it.' He wrote nice letters."

Young Scott was born at this Fraser Valley settlement near New Westminster, and was educated in schools in the district. His father, a millworker, identified the body at Medicine Hat after being notified by police. He will return here with the body and funeral services will be held at New Westminster Monday.

DEPARTMENT TO AID VETERANS COMMONS TOLD

OTTAWA, Dec. 7.—(CP)—Establishment of a "Veterans' Welfare Division" in the department of pensions and national health is provided for by an order-in-council tabled in the House of Commons Friday.

Its function will be to advise and assist former members of the forces in re-establishing themselves in civilian life, and to perform any other duties which may be assigned to it, relating to welfare of former members of the forces.

Among such duties will be the setting up of sub-divisions at points throughout Canada; studying occupational opportunities in different parts of Canada; trying to secure preference in employment for veterans; and keeping contact with veterans' organizations.

INCREASE IN WATER RATES IS OPPOSED

C.M.A. Requests No Boost —Rebate For Industries Proposed

Written representations have been made to city commissioners by the Edmonton branch, Canadian Manufacturers Association, urging that either no increase be made in the water rate for industrial consumers, or that if an increase is made, that consideration be given to a rebat to avoid undue hardship to Edmonton industry.

In the letter to commissioners from the association it is pointed out that the proposed increase of 11.4 per cent in water rates is a very serious matter for the larger industrial consumers of water, many of whom are in keen competition with industries outside the city. This is especially so under present war conditions.

The association takes the stand that, with the Dominion government already heavily increasing taxes for war expenditures, public services which are considered necessary in peacetime, must now give place to the vital need of the moment.

It is pointed out that the water rates charged against large-scale industrial users in Edmonton are higher than those in effect in other Canadian cities, and also that many of the large firms will not benefit from the use of the new soft water equipment to any extent.

POSTPONEMENTS FOR ARMY CAMPS BY DECEMBER 17

Recruits summoned for the January 10 camp training period under the National War Services Act have until December 17 to make application for postponement of their military duties, it was announced Saturday by J. P. McIsaac, divisional registrar.

Application for postponement of service must be in the office of the divisional registrar, Courthouse, Edmonton, on or before that date, it is emphasized. No applications for postponement will be accepted after December 17.

Call to between 3,000 and 3,500 farmers and farm laborers of the 22-year-old class was sent out on Thursday, and the final call with transportation will be forwarded to recruits toward the end of the month.

R.C.A.F. Transfers

Flight-Lieut. K. E. Krug, R.C.A.F. chief advisory officer at No. 16 Elementary Flying Training School here since its opening on No- 16, has been transferred to the Lethbridge depot, where he will fill a similar position. Squadron Leader John Bervin, formerly of Lethbridge, will take over the vacancy here.

PLANS MADE FOR FAIR AT CITY MEETING

Utility Classes To Be Featured As Wartime Policy

Directors of the Edmonton Exhibition Association Friday evening reaffirmed their decision to hold the 1941 summer fair, and also decided that in the 1941 spring livestock show utility classes would be featured as a wartime policy.

Mr. Abbott reminded the directors that the provincial government had specifically requested that the summer fair be continued because of its benefits to agriculture. He intimated that there would be no federal grants in 1941. These grants were not paid by the federal government in 1940 either.

PRIZE LIST

The prize list committee for the spring show will meet next Friday to draft the classes for the spring show in conformity with the policy adopted by the directors of stressing utility breeds.

It is the intention of the association to increase encouragement to the Belgian, Percheron, and heavy draught classes, and not to feature the show classes as strongly as in previous years.

The annual bull sale, held in conjunction with the spring show, will be continued. This is a feature which is of tremendous value to the agricultural industry in Northern Alberta.

Mr. Abbott reported there would be a surplus of $10,301 on the association's 1940 operations, compared with $9,656 last year, an increase of $645 despite two days incessant rain during fair week this year.

Profit from the fall race meet this year totalled $4,380, compared with $4,020 in 1939.

GREETINGS ARE SENT CITY MEN IN ARMY UNITS

Officers and men of the Canadian Active Service Forces serving in Britain and Canada will receive Christmas and New Year greetings from Edmonton citizens conveyed to them through Mayor John W. Fry.

This week Mayor Fry sent letters of greetings to the commanding officers of all Edmonton units, and units in which large numbers of men from the city have been recruited.

Included in the units written to by Mayor Fry are: The Edmonton Regiment; 4th Casualty Clearing Station, R.C.A.M.C.; 9th Army Troops Co., R.C.E.; 1st Canadian Pioneer Battalion; 92nd Field Battery, R.C.A.; 61st Field Battery, R.C.A.; 13th Field Hygiene section, R.C.A.M.C.; 3rd Field Brigade, R.C.A.; W. T. Section, R.C.C.S.; South Alberta Regiment; Edmonton Fusiliers; 19th Company, Canadian Forestry Corps.

Preparation Must Be Made To Rehabilitate Veterans Maynard Tells Employees

Civil servants must make preparation to receive men of the fighting forces who will return to civilian life after the war, Hon. Lucien Maynard, minister of municipal affairs, told members of the Civil Service Association of Alberta and their friends at a banquet Friday evening in the Macdonald hotel.

The minister spoke to the toast to "The Association", the reply being given by W. T. Aiken, president. Toastmaster at the dinner, which was attended by some 200 members and guests, was F. J. Fitzpatrick, chairman of the Edmonton branch. S. Catley, Calgary, provincial vice-president, thanked the Edmonton branch, on behalf of outside delegates, for their hospitality.

Hon. Mr. Maynard stated that the problem must be faced of placing the 200,000 men who will be leaving the Empire service in post-war demobilization, also finding places for the 17,000 men who already have been discharged.

DEFINITE STEPS TAKEN

"Through the efforts of your association you have made arrangements so that the positions will be open to men of the government service when they come back but at this time, before the war is ended, there should be some definite steps taken to insure a place for the others," he said.

"If every thinking man and woman doesn't do something about the situation as it will arise after the war, I'm afraid it will be much too late after the conflict is over," he added. He declared that luxury taxes, income taxes and national defence taxes in Canada were nothing compared to the suffering the people in England are undergoing.

The minister advised all members of the government staff to join the association, stating that it is the only body the government recognizes in negotiation on problems of its employees.

VALUES OF FREEDOM

Replying to the minister's toast, Mr. Aiken spoke on the values of freedom and democracy. "Though the whole world should come under the heel of a dictator," he said, "freedom will always prevail for it is with reverence that the word is spoken today.

"It is not a regimented force," he continued, "but a combination of spontaneous impulses of truth, kindness and generosity.

"In the totalitarian countries, truth has given way to treachery, kindness is replaced by brutality, and generosity has changed to race prejudice."

Woman Is Injured As Car Overturns Following Crash

Shock and back injuries were suffered by Mrs. J. E. Mails, 9556 102 avenue, when the car in which she was riding with her husband overturned following a collision at 96 street and 113 avenue at 1:55 a.m. Saturday.

The Mails' car was going north on 96 street when there was a collision with a car driven by Bernard Goorevitch, 10816 92 street. The Mails' car was struck in the rear and after spinning round on the icy street it turned over 14 paces from the point of impact.

Robert Kirkwood and Mrs. Kirkwood of Wetaskiwin were passengers in the Mails' car, but escaped without injuries.

Flier Returns

Don McLaughlin, son of George McLaughlin, assistant manager of Andrews Brothers funeral chapel, returned to Edmonton recently after a period of seven weeks spent at Trenton, Ont., where he completed a course with the Royal Canadian Air Force. Mr. McLaughlin will be an instructor with the Edmonton Aero Club, which organization he was connected for some time prior to his leaving for the east.

M'GRUTHER IS PRESIDENT OF CIVIL SERVICE

Succeeds W. T. Aiken—Executive Is Elected By Association

William McGruther of Edmonton was elected president of the Civil Service Association of Alberta at the Saturday morning session of the 21st annual convention, in the Macdonald hotel. He succeeds W. T. Aiken, also of this city.

Sessions are continuing Saturday afternoon for unfinished business and new business.

First vice-president is F. F. Young of Ponoka and second vice-president F. J. Fitzpatrick of Edmonton. Representative on the superannuation board is J. H. Holloway and representatives on the government-civil service joint council are Mr. McGruther, Mr. Fitzpatrick and Mr. Aiken.

Members of the executive are E. Williams and F. G. Young, Calgary; O. Hughes, Oliver; A. Black, Fort Saskatchewan; H. M. Bishop, G. W. Keddy, C. Gunderson, D. Sandilands, A. A. Kirby, Helen Stewart, W. T. Whelan, E. S. George and A. T. Scoffield, Edmonton.

The active executive will comprise the members from Edmonton, Oliver and Fort Saskatchewan.

M'KEE ISSUES CHALLENGE ON RELIEF CHARGE

Challenge to A. A. Mackenzie, provincial commissioner of public welfare, to prove his assertion that the city special relief department [illegible] relief payments for a dead man was issued Saturday morning by H. F. McKee, manager of the city's special relief department.

"This is a very serious charge," stated Mr. McKee, "and is one that should be substantiated by proof." Mr. McKee challenged the provincial relief official to prove his allegation. He added that the city has not attempted to collect for a dead man as alleged by the provincial superintendent of public welfare.

Mr. McKee [illegible] stood that the August 22 circular cutting from relief rolls certain family classes had been cancelled by the provincial relief department, but that no official notification of the cancellation had been received at the city's special relief department.

Moderately Cold Weather Promised In City District

With a forecast of "fair and moderately cold" Saturday, Edmonton temperatures continued to drop with a low for the night at 8.30 a.m. of 15 above. Friday's high was 39 above at 2:30 p.m. The barometric pressure at 8.30 a.m. Saturday was 27.34 decreasing. Mild weather prevails in the north with average temperatures of 20 above and a minimum of 4 above at Keg River.

Dear Friends:

At this season of the year we once more wish to offer our services to assist our many kind friends and patrons in overcoming that good old Christmas thought: WHAT TO GIVE OR DO FOR CHRISTMAS.

May we suggest many little ways in which we can assist you?

We offer this Christmas, attractive Gift Tickets, which you may give to your families, employees or friends. They can be enclosed in very attractive and appropriate envelopes all ready for mailing, or we will mail them for you to any part of the city or district. We can assure you there's no more appreciative gift for young or old. These are individual tickets for Children and Adults and can be secured in quantities of one or more.

Another ideal Xmas Gift is our book of Thrif-tickets, priced at $1.00, $2.50 and $5.00 according to amount of tickets in each book and denomination required. These books show a decided saving in your entertainment costs.

We will be pleased to have you phone us for further particulars, or our representative will call upon you.

Be sure and listen to our new program which commences Tuesday night at 9:15 over CJCA, you may win a prize!

Yours very truly,
Walter P. Wilson

EYEGLASSES
By Jackson Bros., Optometrist

How many times have you heard people ask, why do so many people wear glasses today? The real source of wonder is not that so many people wear glasses, but rather that so many manage to do without them. Just think how much the eyes are asked to do today. Close print in newspapers and magazines to read, columns of figures to scan, flashing electric lights to endure, movies to watch. It's really amazing that they continue to function as well as they do. It's easy to understand that glasses nowadays are not merely worn to see better, but to relieve the eyes from strain that comes from constant use.

Here's another aspect about glasses. They can help to preserve the youthful appearance. Glasses may relieve that characteristic anxious tired drawn look which often comes from eyestrain. Is it any wonder, then that so many young people especially young women turn to glasses today? They are appropriate for every place and occasion.

Don't take your eyes for granted, but have them examined by our Registered Optometrist, who will give your eyes a thorough eyesight examination.

[illegible] loving memory of Alexander [illegible] who passed away December [illegible]
Loving and kind in all his ways,
Upright and just to the end of his days;
Sincere and kind in heart and mind,
What a beautiful memory he left behind.

"Off Work With Headaches"

A West End patient wrote: "My son bought his glasses from you. They are very satisfactory. Formerly he would be off work with headaches and biliousness, but since wearing them he hasn't lost a day."

From a Business Man

"Have been doing business with you for years and I am always impressed by the careful and thorough examination you give my eyes when I drop in for a 'check up'. We all like attention and when we give it and get it we have a pleased customer."

"Headaches Have Ceased"

"These glasses are wonderful. I wouldn't be without them. Since wearing the glasses my headaches have ceased and when they require changing I will call in again."

A Business Girls Says:

"This is one bill I do not mind paying. Since wearing glasses my work and health have improved. I can read the finest of print. It is a pleasure to wear them."

SALE OF TIMBER BY PUBLIC TENDER

1. PUBLIC NOTICE is hereby given that the Director of Forestry, Department of Lands and Mines, Edmonton, will offer for sale by public tender at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon on Wednesday, December 18th, 1940, at Room 532, Administration Building, 109th Street, Edmonton, Alberta, the right to cut timber under license on Berth No. 6783, comprising:

The West half of Legal Subdivision 13 of Section 35, the North half of Legal Subdivision 16 of Section 34 all in Township 71, Range 11, West of the 5th Meridian; the West half of Legal Subdivision 4 of Section 2, Legal Subdivisions 1, 6, 7 and 15, the North half of Legal Subdivision 5, the North half of Legal Subdivision 2, the North half of Legal Subdivision 10 and the North West quarter of Section 3; The North East quarter, North half of Legal Subdivision 8, Legal Subdivisions 11 and 14 of Section 4; Legal Subdivisions 3, 6 and 9, the South half of Legal subdivision 10, the East half of Legal Subdivision 11, the South East quarter of Section 9, the South West quarter, the West half of Legal Subdivision 2, Legal Subdivisions 7, 10, 11 and 12, the South half of Legal Subdivision 15, Legal Subdivisions 14 and 15, the North half of Legal Subdivision 16 of Section 10, Legal Subdivisions 1 and 2 of Section 15 all in Township 72, Range 11, West of the 5th Meridian, containing an area of 2.44 square miles, more or less.

2. It is estimated there are at least five million, five hundred thousand feet board measure of merchantable spruce on the timber berth.

3. The license will be awarded to the person tendering the highest rate of dues on sawn lumber of species other than poplar and no tender of a rate of dues of less than $2.25 per thousand feet board measure shall be considered. All timber cut under license on the timber berth, excepting sawn lumber of species other than poplar, shall be subject to the payment of dues at the rates prescribed in Form "E" of the Timber Regulations.

4. Tenders for the timber berth must be enclosed in a sealed container and submitted by the tenderer in person or through his duly authorized agent who must present his authorization with the tender and such authorization must be sufficient to empower the said agent to make application for a license in behalf of the tenderer and to bind such tenderer to full and complete compliance with the terms and conditions of sale.

5. Tenders must be accompanied by a deposit of $1,218.00 in cash, marked cheque on a chartered bank, certified treasury branch order cheque or certified non-negotiable transfer voucher payable to the Provincial Treasurer. The deposit made by an unsuccessful tenderer shall be returned to him and in the case of the person to whom the timber berth is awarded the deposit may be retained as a guarantee of compliance with the terms of sale.

6. Every tender to purchase the timber berth shall include an offer on behalf of the person making the same to pay to the Crown in addition to all dues and taxes reserved or imposed by Statute the sum of $65.25 being the cost incurred in cruising and advertising the timber berth.

7. The timber berth shall be subject to an annual rental of $[illegible] per square mile or fraction thereof and one-half the cost incurred by the Crown in guarding the timber from fire shall be defrayed by the licensee.

8. The person to whom the timber berth is awarded must immediately sign a contract agreeing to carry out the terms and conditions of sale and shall at the same time apply for a license for the current year paying the costs incurred in cruising and advertising together with the rental, license fee, fireguarding charges and timber areal tax.

9. The license shall be for a term not exceeding one year and shall be renewable from year to year for a term of nine years while there is on the timber berth a sufficient quantity of the kind and dimensions of timber specified in the license.

10. The cutting of timber on the timber berth shall be subject in all other respects to the Regulations Governing the Granting of Yearly Licenses to cut Timber on Provincial Lands or to any regulations that may be established hereafter in substitution of such regulations.

11. The Minister may, in his discretion, reject any or all tenders made for the purchase of the timber berth.

12. Further particulars may be obtained on application to the Director of Forestry, Department of Lands and Mines, Edmonton.

CABLE SERVICE IS INTERRUPTED FOR SIX HOURS

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—(AP)—Western Union Cable Company announced its communications with London were restored last night at 7:30 o'clock M.S.T. after an interruption of six hours and 15 minutes.

"Trouble" in the vicinity of Bristol in the land line section between the main cable office at Penzance on the southwestern tip of England and London, was the reason for interrupted service, the company said.

London dispatches at the time told of a heavy German air raid on an unidentified "southwest" English city.

Western Union said it understood all cable companies were affected similarly.

Service via Western Union stopped about 1:15 p.m. M.S.T. and that of commercial cables about an hour later.

The latter still had not regained cable contact with London late last night.

New Attack Made On Italian Forces By British Planes

LONDON, Dec. 7.—(CP)—Royal Air Force [illegible] have made a new attack on Italian forces at the Albanian port of Valona, and to have scored a direct hit on a munitions dump.

Clouds of black smoke billowed up from the port after the assault, the Air Ministry said. Bombs also exploded on an Italian motor truck concentration and on military buildings. All the British planes returned.

OFFICERS ARE GIVEN COURSE HANDLING MEN

By ROSS MUNRO

SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND, Dec. 7.—(CP)—The 2nd Canadian Division has introduced a new scheme called "self-contained detachment moves" to train its young officers in handling their platoons in the field without any assistance from senior men.

Every few days detachments of 25 to 60 men are ordered to take up a position for a night and a day in some specified area. The captain or subaltern in charge must make his reconnaissance and then move his troops by lorry convoy to their new billets. The one rule of the game is that the officer must not pay for any billets, and by this means his ingenuity is tested.

OFFICER RESPONSIBLE

The officer handles the entire administration of his camps while away from the division. He must look after the comfort and protection of his men as well as their discipline. The plan is becoming a real success.

The headquarters staff makes frequent check-ups on the detachments sent out and Lieut. William Ferguson of Winnipeg, aide-de-camp to Maj.-Gen. Victor W. Odlum, divisional commander, drops in on them without warning and reports back on selection of billets and the situation in the camp.

TURKEY DINNER WILL BE GIVEN CANADIAN ARMY

LONDON, Dec. 7—(CP)—Canadian troops in Britain are going to have turkey with all the trimmings for their Christmas dinner. The Canadian Red Cross hopes to provide the turkeys—an expensive luxury these days here—to all units unable to raise them independently.

The menus also will include soup, pork and mince pie and most units are likely to have plum puddings, nuts, candies and favors. Many officers are chipping in to buy the [illegible] bottles of beer and soft drinks.

Auxiliary services are planning special concerts in the camps. Many units are staging their own entertainments.

[illegible] men in hospitals in Britain will receive a Christmas stocking from the Canadian Red Cross. It will be a comfortable hand-knitted sock, with another tucked in the toe. There will be candy, nuts, an orange and an apple, a handkerchief, razor blades, a note book and diary, a pencil, soap, a face cloth and a Christmas cracker.

While the fighting men in the hospitals will be emptying their socks they will hear the nurses singing carols.

The Red Cross has provided $1,000 for this in addition to $10,000 [illegible] Canadian [illegible] provision of Christmas cheer.

Japanese Land Additional Troops

HANOI, French Indo-China, Dec. 7—(AP)—Five hundred additional Japanese troops and [illegible] quantities of artillery landed at the French Indo-China port of Haiphong Friday, augmenting the large [illegible] garrisoned in the colony under terms of an agreement with the Vichy government. New border skirmishes between Thai (Siamese) and French troops were disclosed by the government meanwhile, as reports of new Communist outbreaks in the south [illegible].

Graf Spee's Crew May Go To Interior

BUENOS AIRES, Dec. 7—(BUP)—The Argentine government is reported considering the removal of interned members of the [illegible] German pocket battleship, Graf Spee, to interior provinces to stop their frequent escapes from the frontier [illegible].

2ND DIVISION USES MACHINES FOR MESSAGES

By HOMER JENKS

LONDON, Dec. 7—(BUP)—The Second Canadian Divisional Signals Corps is adapting commercial facsimile transmission for military purposes, it was learned here today.

After months of research, a plan has been devised which experts believe will increase transmission efficiency of the Canadian as well as the British army.

Commercial type of communication has not previously been used in army work. The machines resemble modern teletype sets, and maps and sketches and written matter can be transmitted over regular wire or radio circuits, since they operate on any available speech channel.

It is said that the scientific application of commercial equipment is what the army needs to provide speed and accuracy in type sets and a transmission rate of [illegible] words a minute. Military photographs can rapidly be sent, and maps, despatches and military messages expedited.

British Coke To Bolster U.S. Steel Production

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—(CP)—The New York Times says today the British Iron and Steel Federation has completed plans to ship substantial tonnages of coke to United States to maintain the American steel industry at close to capacity operation.

The newspaper says it has learned the shipments will be based upon estimates that not less than 50,000 tons of coke will be required monthly" and if the situation warrants the program will be expanded.

The Times says less than [illegible] weeks' supply of coke is available for the United States steel industry now and the plan to bring British coke to the American market is regarded as of the utmost importance."

Trail Smelter To Bonus All Its Employees

TRAIL, B.C., Dec. 7.—(CP)—The sum of $380,000 will be given as bonus money this Christmas to [illegible] 500 employees of the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company, according to an [illegible] announcement here Friday.

Of this amount, [illegible] $208,000 will be given to 4,000 employees in the company's Tadanac and Warfield plants, in the Trail-Rossland district.

S. G. Blaylock, president and managing director, has announced that all employees, single or married, who worked for the company before January 15 of this year will receive $50 bonus. Those entering the company's service between that date and July 15 will receive $25.

B.C. Legislature Is Prorogued By Governor Hamber

VICTORIA, Dec. 7.—(CP)—The fifth session of the 19th British Columbia legislature was prorogued Friday by Lieut.-Gov. E. W. Hamber who read a speech from the throne expressing hope that before another year shall have passed the Empire and allies will [illegible] have vanquished the enemy so that peace may again prevail.

The speech also [illegible] [illegible] the [illegible] year was [illegible]

Food Ships

SANTIAGO, Chile, Dec. 7.—(AP)—A proposal to charter a fleet of ships to carry food and clothing to European war sufferers was [illegible] before the Pan-American Red Cross Conference Friday by the Chilean delegation. The ships would take [illegible] [illegible] belligerents. Safe conduct of the vessels [illegible] would fly Red Cross flags [illegible] asked of the warring [illegible] countries.

MAGAZINES ARE BEING STUDIED ON IMPORT BAN

OTTAWA, Dec. 7.—(CP)—The government is taking steps to prevent publishers outside Empire countries whose magazines will be barred from Canada from circumventing the prohibitory measures by sending the plates and matrices into Canada and printing the magazines in the Dominion.

Finance Minister Ilsley announced Friday he will ask parliament to amend his resolutions now before Commons to prohibit importation from foreign countries of printing plates of all kinds, copper or other shells, matrices and other matter for production of publications which will be prohibited. The prohibition will not apply to periodicals which have been printed in Canada since September 1.

The revenue department is at present studying the lists of magazines to be excluded. A revenue official emphasized today that there would be no ban on the better class of United States magazines. The ban will take effect on December 16.

Work Squads

NEW YORK, Dec. 7—(AP)—Thirteen mobilized squads of bricklayers, carpenters and masons [illegible] will travel about Britain repairing and rebuilding bombed homes, a British broadcast heard here Friday night said. The broadcast said the war office has consented to release 3,000 artisans from the army to form the squads.

Dies At Coast

VICTORIA, Dec. 7—Samuel James Drake, 66, [illegible] Vancouver businessman and former resident of Winnipeg, died Friday.

U. S. EXPANDING SHIPYARDS FOR BRITISH VESSELS

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—(AP)—United States shipyards will be expanded to construct 60 fast, 10,000-ton freighters for Great Britain, authoritative shipping circles said today.

The plan, worked out by the maritime commissioner and the British purchasing commission, calls for some "pre-assembly work" which means that certain parts of the vessels will be constructed in inland cities and hauled to shipyards for assembly.

Authorities said this did not mean that the vessels would be pre-fabricated, but only that such things as electrical equipment, engines, doors, and deck equipment would be made and assembled away from the shipyard.

Chicago, Detroit, Cleveland and other mid-western cities are expected to participate in the program.

Two New Members In Konoye Cabinet

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—(AP)—A Domei, Japanese News Agency, broadcast from Tokyo said that Emperor Hirohito approved today appointment of Baron Kiichiro Hiranuma, a former premier, and Naoki Hoshino, president of the Japanese Planning Board, as ministers without portfolio in the Konoye government.

New Peer

LONDON, Dec. 7.—(CP)—The King has conferred a barony on Viscount Wolmer, Conservative member of parliament for Aldershot since 1918. The new peer will join his father, the Earl of Selborne, in the House of Lords.

Miss E. Seddon Is Married On Saturday

SOUTH EDMONTON home of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. McBain was the scene of one of the prettiest ceremonies of the pre-Christmas season on Saturday morning when Miss Evelyn Carlson Seddon, R.N., of this city, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Seddon of Manchester, Lancashire, England, became the bride of Mr. Joseph Lyman White also of Edmonton, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. George White of Montreal, Quebec.

Performed at the hour of half past 10 o'clock, the marriage service was read by Dr. E. T. Scragg of Wesley United church.

Best wishes of friends in business and nursing circles are being extended to the bride and bridegroom on the occasion of their marriage. The bride, who is a graduate of the Royal Alexandra Hospital School of Nursing, has been one of the staff nurses at the hospital in recent years. She is a sister of Mrs. George M. M[illegible] of Saskatoon and formerly of this city who, with her husband, Mr. McM[illegible] was in Edmonton for the wedding. Mr. McMorris gave Miss Seddon in marriage.

POTTERY BLUE ENSEMBLE

The bride wore for her marriage a graceful afternoon ensemble in pottery blue, comprised of smart frock and matching silk coat, black hat and slippers, and white gloves. Her flowers were [illegible] and [illegible]

Junior Prom Is Gay Affair Of Friday Evening

GAY, light-hearted waltzes that charmed feet into dancing in days when Vienna was gay and happy set the tempo for the most colorful of all University formal parties, the Junior Prom, when on Friday evening of this week members of the Junior class entertained in Athabaska hall. "Invitation to the Waltz" was the theme of the party and the lovely Strauss waltzes of musical fame provided the setting of the affair.

Cameos of ladies and gentlemen of other days decorated the walls, which were artistically carried out in crimson and gold, fans and party favors were decoration features.

Patronesses were Mrs. W. A. R. Kerr, wife of President Kerr; Mrs. J. M. MacEachran, wife of Dr. MacEachran, the University provost; Mrs. John Macdonald, wife of Dr. Macdonald, honorary president of the Junior class, and Miss Mabel Patrick.

CLASS EXECUTIVE

Junior class executive in charge of arrangements includes Mr. Edgerton King, president; Miss Ruth Rostrup, vice-president; Mr. Douglas McDougall, secretary-treasurer, and Miss Mary Barbara Mason, Miss Sheila Hayhurst, Mr. Stanley Edwards and Mr. Frank Foxlee. Members of the Jordan School of Dancing entertained at intermission.

Among those present were Dr. and Mrs. W. A. R. Kerr, Dr. and Mrs. J. M. MacEachran, Dr. and Mrs. Macdonald, Dr. and Mrs. H. F. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hase.

Miss Busby To Be Heard In Recital

Under auspices of the Emonton Junior Hospital League, a delightful program of song will be presented in McDougall auditorium on Wednesday evening of next week by Kathleen Busby, talented young Edmonton soprano who has been studied at the Toronto Conservatory of Music.

Miss Busby's singing ability is well known in Edmonton musical circles and her program promises an evening of worthwhile and charming entertainment.

Included in the program are three songs by Bach, "Of Flowers the Fairest", "Sighing, Weeping", from the cantata "I Am Deep in Sorrow", and "On My Shepherd I Rely".

In the second group of songs, Miss Busby will sing "Drink To Me Only With Thine Eyes", arranged by Quilter; "In an Arbor Green" by Peter Warlock; "Have You Seen But a White Lily Grow", arranged by Warlock and "Pretty Ring Time", by Peter Warlock.

The balance of the program includes "L'Amero" from "Il Re Pastore", by Mozart, with W. J. Hendra playing the obligato, "Mi Chiamano Mimi", from "La Boheme" by Puccini, "Recitative et Air de Lia", from "L'Enfant Prodigue" by Debussy, "Les Papillons" by Felix Fourdrain, "Take Me To a Green Isle" by Walter McNutt, "The Musician" by Michael Head; and "Silent Strings" by Hugh Bantock, "An Eriskay Love Lilt", arranged by Kennedy Fraser; "Indian Love Song", by Delius, "The Heart Worships", by Holst, and "Queen of Heaven", by Dunhill.

Free People Write And Sing!

By Nellie McClung

IN GERMANY black silence is surely falling on the people, for no church bells ring, no dogs bark, no birds sing, and even the radios go off early [illegible] the air raids. Fanny Hurst in her autobiography, "Peculiar Treasure," made the statement that not one line of music, [illegible] written in Germany [illegible]. What could they [illegible] to express [illegible] cannot [illegible] enquire for [illegible] Germany has accom- [illegible]

Men of evil desire, who come into power, always try to silence the [illegible] Thomas Mann, who [illegible] to leave Germany, has written [illegible] undying letters of all [illegible] farewell to the University of Bonn. "God help our darkened [illegible] country," he [illegible] less [illegible] brought [illegible] Ruined, sucked dry in [illegible] with [illegible] loved [illegible] regarded with fear and [illegible] it stands on the brink of disaster, while its 'enemies' stretch out hands to snatch back [illegible] member of the future family of nations if it would only [illegible] and try to understand the real needs of this moment."

Germany has lost her voice, her mind and [illegible] and if she can [illegible] fatal purpose the same [illegible] will fall on all of us. But we thank God that the free spirit [illegible] finds expres- [illegible] world [illegible] We [illegible] Germany's [illegible] Many [illegible] writers are now on [illegible] England. Louis [illegible] longer write [illegible] writes for us, "The World I Knew." He tells how, [illegible] the world, then saw that his world was shrinking; at last he had but London and Paris—then London. Mr. Golding, who is a Jew, and the author of that unforgettable book, "Mr. Emmanuel," writes without bitterness, but with a great longing—that the agony of Central Europe should be [illegible]. His book closes with these words: "You have made [illegible] O God, but not a [illegible]

OUR OWN BLOSSOMING

But I want to write especially of the blossoming of our own people in these evil days. Rose Macaulay in a recent issue of the Saturday Evening Post describes the air-raid shelters and the conduct of the people. She sees families playing games, learning songs, even a group of people engaged in Bible reading and family prayers. I have had two letters from friends written from air-raid shelters, excellent letters, free from panic and full of meat.

"I never knew there were so [illegible] gentlefolk in Bolton—more [illegible] to me. I've kept to my own class, but now we are all Britons together," one old lady writes, after telling of her third bombing disas- [illegible] Hitler has [illegible] all Britons [illegible] free people of the world."

A boy who left school here, to enlist and is in an anti-aircraft squad somewhere in England, writes, "We [illegible] no longer afraid of the German [illegible] we think of them as thunder storms." He is hoping to be taken into the bomb destroying force, he says.

I have a letter before me which a neighbor brought in for me to read. The writer, in telling about the damage done in her village, says the bombs were probably intended for B——, where there are military objectives. "It [illegible] harrow- [illegible] thing they do miss B—— where they might do tremendous damage to our war effort. BOOKLET BY INDIANS

Into the stream of national literature there comes this season a tiny [illegible] the form of a modest lit- [illegible] by Indian children and illustrated by a 14-year-old Indian boy. The little book [illegible] "The Tale of the Nativity." It is written with a quaint charm and the stark simplicity of those who live in the open. The book comes from the Inkameep school in the Okanagan Valley in British Columbia, and for it we are indebted to the understanding teacher, Anthony Walsh, who has patiently stimulated the artistic and dramatic talents of his pupils during the eight years he has been with them. In this work he has been helped by some public spirited people, who have now made the publication of the book possible.

Great poems came out of the last war, and the first one that comes to mind is John McCrae's "In Flanders Fields." The McCrae family, when collecting and publishing their distinguished son's poems, included only one reply of all the hundreds that were written, and [illegible] the one done by the 18-year-old Saskatchewan girl, Edna Jaques.

Edna Jaques is writing about this war in strangely moving little [illegible] a tenderness and understanding that marks the true poet. Coming off the press this week, a slender volume of 15 poems called "Britons Awake," comes from her pen, and will be welcomed by her readers. At the price of a Christmas card, it should have a wide circulation.

BLIND TO VALUE

[illegible] how blind we are to its value, and how sublimely careless we are of our poets. The comforting legend is still believed that poets are fed by the ravens as the Prophet Elijah, who dwelt by the brook Cherith, and therefore need no reward for their labors, beyond "the rapture of pursuing." We must think of how poor life would be without these people who have the gift of making music with words.

Now, all of us, I believe, would like to pay tribute to our beloved Queen, who goes among her homeless people, with her charm, her grace, her sweet sympathy. But it was given to an American woman, Mary A. Winter, of Chicago, to frame the words, as simple as those found in a child's primer, the perfect tribute to this fair lady:

"London bridge is falling down,
My Fair Lady.

Be it said to your renown
That you wore your gayest gown,
Your bravest smile, and stayed in town

When London bridge was falling down,
My Fair Lady!"

Dorothy Dix Says:

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I was much interested in the letter you recently published from the man who said that his wife was a good manager, a fine cook, enjoyed the same sports that he did, but who was dissatisfied with her because she wasn't a good conversationalist. My wife is witty and a fine conversationalist, but she is such a poor housekeeper and miserable cook that when I want a good meal I have to go to a restaurant for it, or to my mother's, and I would be ashamed to bring any company to my house. Believe me, [illegible] compensation for an empty stomach and a neglected home. I have a beautiful house and plenty of money, but I am sick at heart over having no REAL home. I think a man who has a wife who is a good housekeeper has got a sweetheart, even if she is dumb.

JACK

Answer: Undoubtedly, the great majority of husbands will agree with Jack that good food on the table is preferable to witty conversation at dinner, and that when a man is wrestling with tough steak and underdone potatoes and over-done bread that he is in no mood to enjoy brilliant talk. He wants to fill his stomach [illegible]

But the plight of these two husbands, one of whom is married to a good cook and the other to a good conversationalist, shows how difficult it is for a man to ever get a wife who gives complete satisfaction.

If she is intellectual, she is likely not to be domestic. If she is a wizard in the kitchen, she may not shine in the drawing-room. If she is a quiet homebody, she may be a flop abroad.

Apparently what the average man wants in a wife is a woman who is a compendium of all the talents and all the virtues. A man wants a wife who can cook with one hand and play the piano with the other; who is domestic yet brilliant; who can look like a million dollars in basement bargain clothes; who can stay at home all the time yet play around with him; who can run a house without running up any bills; who can be up with a sick child all night yet look fresh and beautiful at breakfast, and so on and so on.

Inasmuch as no woman possesses all of these antagonistic qualities, it is not surprising that her husband is disappointed in her when she falls down on a few of them.

Unfortunately women cannot change their natures even to please their husbands, so the best thing that the husbands can do is to take their wives "as is" and make the most of the good qualities they have.

Let the man who is married to a good cook but a poor talker thank God for his physical comforts and forget how he is bored. Let the man who has a wife who is a good talker and a poor cook reflect that there is a restaurant around the corner, but that entertaining companions are few and far between.

Sophisticated Rumba Is Easy

"Why I can rumba!" exclaims the young man who thought the rumba was as far out of his class as a ballet solo.

Yes, the rumba, the conga — all the exciting new steps—are no problem at all when you have diagrams showing just how and where to place your feet. Try the Rumba Hesitation shown here.

Count 1—Move left foot a few inches to the side, keeping it flat on the floor with almost no weight on it; hips sway left. And—Sway hips right. 2—Short step forward on left foot; hips sway left. 3—Move right foot a few inches to the side with almost no weight, hips sway right. And—Sway hips left. 4—Short step forward on right foot.

For that expert "cafe society" look, you and your partner should stand slightly apart. As you sway hips to one side, allow the leg on the opposite side to relax, bending the knee slightly.

Make a hit, too, with the other popular steps in our 32-page booklet. Gives diagrams and directions for the rumba, tango, samba, waltz, conga, fox-trot, Westchester and shag; also the Peabody and Lindy Hop. Includes basic steps, variations; tells how to lead and follow, combine steps.

"DRY WINE" DOES NOT MEAN "SOUR WINE"

Many people believe that dry wines are always sour wines, but this is quite wrong. "Dry," when referring to wines, simply means that it is wine without sweetness. Many dry wines are far from being sour, thought they are also not sweet. Dry wines are "seasoning" to food, and do not reduce one's appetite as sweet wines do.

Points For Parents

Mother: "It is too late for you to start that long story because you know you will want to finish it. Why not read this short one tonight and save the long one for another time?"

Daughter: "Can't I finish my story? You said yesterday we should always finish what we begin."

Mother: "Stop your arguing. I never tell you to do anything that you don't argue about it."

If we are foresighted enough to help a child estimate the amount of time necessary for an activity, it makes it possible for him to satisfy his desire to finish his activity before ceasing it.

Your Figure, Madame!

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Growing up is a serious business with the teens—particularly when there's reason to suspect that one is not growing fast enough and may wind up as "the runt of the family."

If you are under twenty, you still have a say-so about your stature. According to the statistics, the two most marked periods of growth occur between the ages of twelve to sixteen, and sixteen to twenty. [illegible] you may be able to catch up [illegible] second.

Ann Sothern, lovely MGM comedienne, combines fun and exercise in her "swing high, swing low" stunt, which will help the growing girl who wants to add inches to her height.

We might as well face the fact that ancestors exert a terrific influence on the chances for height. They are listed as a seventy per cent factor in structure. But, nevertheless, you are not keeping up with your generation unless you outstrip parents who were short. Each successive generation is a mite taller than its predecessor—and the most logical explanation is the improvement in diet.

You may have noticed that in this country the girls from one section seem to be taller than [illegible] another. The tallest girls come from the western states [illegible] not only inherit [illegible] lead a healthful outdoor life and follow a diet that includes plenty of milk, fruits and vegetables.

OLD VIKINGS

A good percentage of the westerners are of Scandinavian descent—and their again hangs a tale of good nutrition. The old Vikings were good fishermen, and they shipped their catch to other countries [illegible] except the cod livers which were too perishable to ship. So they ate the livers themselves and that might have quite a lot to do with their heritage of height. At any rate don't get the idea that you have outgrown your [illegible]

Low Priced Meats Help Save For Christmas

By MRS. GAYNOR MADDOX

Saving pennies for Christmas presents? Then these inexpensive meats will help you.

DEVILED FLANK STEAK

(Serves 4)

One and one-half pounds flank steak, 3 tablespoons fat, [illegible] finely diced onion, 2 tablespoons flour, 2 teaspoons salt, ¼ teaspoon paprika, 1 teaspoon vinegar, ½ cup tomato sauce, 1½ cups hot water.

Cut the steak into strips, across the grain. Roll strips in flour. Heat the fat and add the onion and [illegible] and brown on all sides. Mix flour, salt, pepper and paprika. Add vinegar and tomato sauce [illegible] ingredients. Pour over steak. Cover tightly and allow it to simmer for 1 hour or until tender. Serve in the center of a large ring mold of rice.

PORCUPINES

(Serves 4)

Three-quarters pound ground beef, 1 tablespoon minced onion, 2 teaspoons baking powder, ½ cup milk, ¼ teaspoon salt, pepper, 1-3 cup uncooked rice, 1 can tomato soup.

Combine all ingredients, with exception of tomato soup. Form into 8 small balls. Place in small roaster or casserole-dish. Pour the tomato soup over the balls and bake, uncovered, for 35 minutes [illegible] degree F. oven. [illegible] bake 35 minutes longer. [illegible] will swell and give the meat ball a "porcupine" appearance.

BAKED HAM WITH SQUASH

Two cups diced canned ham, 2 cups diced winter squash, salt and pepper, ¼ cup brown sugar, 2 tablespoons water.

Place ham in bottom of a baking dish and lay squash on top of ham. Sprinkle with salt, pepper and brown sugar. Add water, cover and bake for 50 minutes in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.). Reduce the heat to 275 degrees F. and continue baking for 25 minutes longer.

Monday's Menu

BREAKFAST: [illegible] soft-cooked eggs, [illegible] milk.

Brinda arose.

"Walker," she said decisively, "you're tired. You'd better go to bed." Mentally, she decided to put a lock on her door the next day.

"Very good, Miss." The housekeeper picked up the tea-things and turned toward the door. "I didn't mean to speak wrong. I always try to mind my business. But—" and there was no mistaking the concern in her voice this time— "do be careful, Miss. Your Uncle wouldn't want you to end up like that Mata Hari. Her that got shot by the French for being a spy." The door closed behind her.

"Ugh!" Brinda shivered. Yes, there could be no doubt—the atmosphere of the house was affecting the housekeeper. Too much tragedy and violence—Kenley's murder, the stabbing of Sir John, the blood-stained trunk and its horrible contents—no wonder Walker's simple mind was reeling!

Yet, as Brinda's gaze wandered back to the jewel cabinet it seemed to her for an icy moment that she saw a dark-haired, graceful woman with some kind of strange veil over her eyes kneeling before it. Then she realized that she was not looking at the jewel cabinet, but at its reflection in the pier glass, and that the illusion was caused by some trick of drapery and her own flesh.

"I'm worse than Walker," she murmured with a smile.

Despite which, when she drifted off to sleep, it was to dream a strange, disturbing and endless dream in which were curiously intermingled Dick, Walker, Lord Mountwyn, Vaslav, and a strangely beautiful woman with blue-black hair and a dark, golden skin and a mysterious, tender smile. . . . But a bandage hid the dream creation's eyes, and when Brinda sought to lift it she found only deep, dark [illegible] that somehow she knew were pools of tears.

On the afternoon after the bombing of Dick's laboratory, Prince Vaslav sat at the gold-inlaid desk in his [illegible] study, moving ivory pieces on a chessboard of ebony and Circassian walnut. There was a discreet knock on the door, and a servant admitted the chauffeur who had been charged with driving Brinda home.

"You did not obey my instructions, Mueller . . . Why?"

"The place was dangerous," the man said sullenly. "I did what I thought was best."

Vaslav studied him a moment broodingly.

"What ails you? Are you a coward?"

The chauffeur flushed.

"No more than you," he said, with studied insolence, "but I don't care to risk my life for the sake of another's love affairs."

Vaslav's feet shifted ever so slightly, his body leaned forward. His voice was like a purr when he spoke again, but it was the purr of some savage jungle animal.

"Were you employed to supervise my love life, may I ask? Or, to put it another way, have you observed at any time that I was not able to handle such matters myself?"

"This is different," the chauffeur replied. "You're in love with this Brinda." He showed signs of uneasiness under Vaslav's gaze, but went doggedly on. "Yes, it's true—you're in love with her."

"Dog!" said Vaslav, quietly. "You presume. Besides, you have not removed your cap. I shall remove it for you." He leaned across the desk and slapped the chauffeur so heavily that it was like a shot. The man staggered, snatched [illegible] the cap as it fell. Then he straightened with [illegible] hand to the pocket of his chauffeur's uniform.

In a single, cat-like bound, Vaslav cleared the desk. His hand gripped the man's wrist, forcing it upward and backward. The pistol clattered to the floor. Vaslav picked it up and aimed it. The chauffeur went white.

"Don't! Don't! I—I was wrong."

Vaslav smiled coldly.

"Very wrong. But—I do not wish to kill you. You are too good a—chauffeur. Do you swear to obey in the future? Without question?"

"I swear!"

"Then pick up your cap and get out! Wait—here is your pistol. You had better learn to handle it. As for the rest, let's have no more [illegible]! You know your duties. Perform them, as I do mine. By the way, I prefer to be addressed as Excellency by my chauffeur. Even when we are alone. Goodnight!"

[illegible] as if against his own will, the chauffeur pocketed the pistol.

"Goodnight—Excellency. I shall not offend again. As you say, I know my duty." Outside the door, he stood motionless, his face contorted with rage. "Yes, Prince Vaslav," he whispered. "I know my duty—as you will find—when the time comes!"

YOU HAVE SUCH BEAUTIFUL THINGS-BUT I---I CAN'T AFFORD REALLY EXPENSIVE THINGS-OH, ISN'T THAT LOVELY!
YES, IT IS NICE, MRS CAIRNS--AND IT WOULD BE VERY BECOMING-AND NOT AT ALL EXPENSIVE-
BECOMING! ALL MY CLOTHES HANG ON ME SO FUNNY--IT'S ME, OF COURSE-HA! HA! THE JUDGE LAUGHS AT ALL MY CLOTHES-IT USED TO--TO HURT A LITTLE-
OH, HELLO, THERE-GOING MY WAY? I SAW YOU IN PEG'S SHOP---PEG IS A WONDERFULLY NICE PERSON, ISN'T SHE?
YOU BET SHE IS--HAVIN' TROUBLE IS BAD FOR FOLKS WHO CAN'T TAKE IT---BUT FOR REAL FOLKS LIKE PEG-- TROUBLE? HAS PEG HAD TROUBLE? WHY, ONE WOULD NEVER GUESS IT--SHE'S SO SWEET AND CALM--- TROUBLE! GI BUT SHE'D NE TALK BOUT HOW HER NO-GOOD HUSB RAN OUT ON H STOLE HER BA ---AND-----

Montreal and Toronto

MONTREAL, Dec. 7.—(CP)—The stock market was irregular in quiet late trade today with gains and losses about even.

Mild support was given a handful of rails and Canadian Car and C.P.R. displayed minor additions while Dosco held even. Noranda sold fractionally higher in an otherwise inactive metals group.

Talks Bronze Age

LONDON—(CP)—During an air-raid alert and while anti-aircraft guns sounded in the distance, Sir Cyril Fox, director of the National Museum of Wales, talked here to the Society of Antiquaries on the "Bronze Age."

WHEAT PRICES MAKE ADVANCE

WINNIPEG, Dec. 7.—(CP)—Wheat futures showed independent strength today on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange and at the close minor gains were recorded. Closing quotations were ⅛ to ½ cents higher with December 73¼; May 77¼; and July 78⅞ cents.

Light offerings combined with scattered buying by Canadian mills held prices firm throughout the short session. Domestic buyers were credited with purchasing flour, the sales being equivalent to 250,000 bushels of wheat. No Canadian wheat export sales were reported.

JUNIOR STRING GROUP GIVES CONCERT HERE

Mayor Fry Stresses Great Value Of Music Appreciation

Mayor John W. Fry, guest speaker at the concert, complimented the young musicians on their performance and spoke briefly on the tremendous value of music appreciation. Prof. H. F. Smith, Ph.D., of the University of Alberta, also spoke.

The junior orchestra, comprising youngsters ranging in age from three years to the early teens, distinguished themselves in their playing.

SOLOISTS

Soloists were Evelyn May Whittaker and Doris Frances [illegible] J. [illegible] Meller and [illegible] Gossec, soloists. Doris [illegible] and Howard Berg also presented a duet.

Featuring Hawaiian music, the guitar ensemble was heard in a variety of numbers.

"Gondola Moon," depicting a scene near a gypsy camp fire, with [illegible] full of laughter and happiness, was played in a violin solo by Mr. Olson.

Betty Reilly Shaw presented [illegible]

Little Orphan Annie
I SAW A NEW CUSTOMER IN YOUR SHOP--JUDGE CAIRNS' WIFE, WAS IT NOT?
YES--AND WHAT A DEAR--SAYS THE JUDGE HAS ALWAYS LAUGHED AT HER FUNNY CLOTHES--(THE BEAST)--BUT SHE SAYS SHE CAN'T AFFORD EXPENSIVE THINGS-
I DARE SAY SHE TOLD THE TRUTH--JUDGE CAIRNS IS AN HONEST JUDGE--HIS SALARY AS JUDGE IS HIS ONLY INCOME-IT DOESN'T GO TOO FAR IN THESE TIMES-
WELL, ONE NEED NOT SPEND GREAT SUMS TO DRESS BECOMINGLY AND--WELL---I THINK I PROVED THAT TO HER-
I THOUGHT ANNIE WAS IN HERE--WHERE DID SHE GO?
OH, I SAW HER WALKING DOWN THE STREET WITH MRS. CAIRNS--THEY WERE CHATTERING AWAY LIKE OLD FRIENDS---ABOUT WHAT, I HAVE NO IDEA-
WELL, THAT'S 'BOUT TH' WHOLE STORY---B'LIEVE ME, NOBODY'LL EVER STEAL LITTLE BILLY FROM HER AGAIN---WELL, I TURN OFF HERE-S'LONG, MRS. CAIRNS--
ER---SO LONG, ANNIE--THANK YOU SO MUCH FOR TELLING ME ALL ABOUT PEG-- ARUMPH! HOME AT LAST! I'VE BEEN HOME FOR HOURS! WHERE IN SAM HILL---UGH!---HELEN! WHAT'S HAPPENED TO YOU?
WHY---WHY, CLARENCE--N---NOTHING HAS HAPPENED TO ME--IT'S--IT'S A NEW DRESS-D--DON'T YOU LIKE IT? IT--IT WAS CHEAP---
LIKE IT! WHY, IT'S---IT'S A KNOCKOUT! TURN AROUND!
WHY, YOU'RE BEAUTIFUL! AND A NEW HAT! I DON'T CARE WHAT THEY COST---THEY'RE WORTH IT!
OH--OH, YOU MEAN IT--YOU'RE NOT LAUGHING AT ME---OH, CLARENCE!
YES, SIR---THAT'S A STUNNING OUTFIT, HELEN--OH, I JUST HAD A CALL---PETER LA PLATA'S LAWYER--THE GREAT BAND LEADER FELLOW---WANTS TO SEE ME IN CHAMBERS TOMORROW-
PETER LA PLATA? HIS LAWYER? WHAT ABOUT?
OH, IT SEEMS HIS WIFE WAS NO GOOD---SKIPPED OUT--ABANDONED THEIR BABY---YEARS AGO--HE DIVORCED HER, OF COURSE-NOW SHE'S POPPED UP---GRABBED THE KID--HEARD THE KID MIGHT MAKE MONEY IN THE MOVIES--GOLD DIGGER---LA PLATA WANTS COURT ORDER TO RECOVER HIS SON-- 12-8-40
CLARENCE! NO! NO! DON'T YOU DARE GRANT THAT ORDER! I KNOW THAT GIRL WHO WAS HIS WIFE--IT'S ALL LIES---LIES--SHE'S SWEET, HONEST, GOOD---HE ABANDONED HER---STOLE HER BABY! IT'S ALL A TRICK!
HERE, HERE! I---WHUFF---LAW---ALL LEGAL---YOU CAN'T INTERFERE WITH A JUDGE---
YOU AND YOUR ETERNAL LAW! MIX SOME JUSTICE WITH YOUR LAW! DON'T BE SO BLIND-SO SMUG! IF YOU HELP TO STEAL THAT POOR GIRL'S CHILD FROM HER AGAIN---I---I---I'LL LEAVE YOU!
OH-H-H! PLEASE---I--I'LL LOOK INTO IT---I'LL--I'LL DO ANYTHING-----TO GET SOME SLEEP!

FLYIN' JENNY
BY- RUSSELL KEATON
JENNY FAILED TO GET THE JOB OF FLYING MRS. RICHMINT'S PAMPERED LITTLE SON, CYRIL, BECAUSE HE LIFTED THE LANDING FLAPS CAUSING A POOR LANDING DURING A DEMONSTRATION FLIGHT!
HOW 'BOUT USING THE TRAINER, PERCY? I'D LIKE TO GO UPSTAIRS AND DUNK MYSELF IN A CLOUD AND DROWN MY TROUBLES!
SURE, JENNY!-- TAKE MY 'CHUTE!
MEANWHILE
AW, MOTHER! I CAN FLY THIS BABY! I READ A BOOK ON "PILOTING MADE EASY"!
NO, CYRIL! I HAVEN'T FORGOTTEN THE TIME YOU TRIED TO RAM THE QUEEN MARY WITH YOUR YACHT!
I LIKED JENNY DARE! THOUGHT SHE WAS A SPLENDID FLYER UNTIL THAT BAD LANDING! SHE COULD HAVE BEEN BOTH YOUR PILOT AND GOVERNESS!
THUMBS DOWN ON THAT DAME!
NC 23347
AND MAYBE A LITTLE UPSIDE-DOWN FLYING WILL GIVE ME A DIFFERENT SLANT ON THINGS--
NC23347
WOW! DID YOU SEE THAT! IF I GOT TO HAVE A PILOT--THAT'S THE ONE I WANT! BOY! HE CAN WRING OUT AN AIRPLANE--
HARRY
FEEL MUCH BETTER NOW! GUESS I MAY AS WELL LAND AND FACE THE WORLD!
12-8-40
HURRY, MAMA! HE'S TAXIING UP TH' RAMP--
CYRIL! NOT SO FAST-
THAT'S THE PILOT FOR ME, MAMA! QUICK! MAKE HIM AN OFFER!

OUT OUR WAY The Willets By Williams

WELL, SON, I CAN CLEAN THOSE THINGS AND PRESS THE OTHERS AND DO A LITTLE MENDING FOR $3.25
OKAY. AND KINDA BRUSH UP THE STUFF YOU'RE JUST PRESSING, WILL YA?
THREE BUCKS AN' A QUARTER! HE'S PUTTIN' THE CLEANER ON ME, TOO -- BUT IT'S WORTH IT!
HEY, MOM -- WAIT RIGHT THERE IN THE FRONT ROOM! YOU'RE GONNA SEE A STYLE SHOW!
WHY, THAT'S YOUR OLD SWEATER -- AND AREN'T THOSE THE PANTS YOU DISCARDED LONG AGO?
SURE THING! SURPRISED, HUH? WELL, JUST WAIT!
FOR GOODNESS SAKE! THE SUIT AND TOPCOAT THAT YOU SAID WERE WORN OUT -- AND THAT I WAS GOING TO GIVE AWAY!
BUT THEY REALLY LOOK SWELL -- YOU CAN SEE THAT! AND THERE'S SOME OTHER STUFF IN THE KITCHEN I HAD CLEANED AND PRESSED!
WHY, THAT'S WONDERFUL, BUT...
YOU WHAT? NOW I KNOW THERE'S A CATCH TO ALL THIS! ALL RIGHT -- GO AHEAD AND SPRING IT!
